HEARTY WELCOME FOR EXPLORERS

Apollo Adventurers Steaming Towards Hawaii

ABOARD USS TICONDEROGA (UPI)—Three Apollo adventurers and a spacecraft jammed with treasures steamed at flank speed toward Hawaii today, their lunar mission perhaps signaling the start of a new era of moon science.

Apollo 16 astronauts John W. Young, Thomas M. Mattingly and Charles M. Duke, in excellent shape after 11 days in space, are due to reach Honolulu Saturday afternoon and fly on to the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston late that day.

Their record 245-pound haul of moon samples and mapping pictures will be divided and flown to Houston on two planes Saturday. Impatient scientists at the Lunar Receiving Laboratory expect to open the first rock box Monday in a sterile, nitrogen-filled cabinet.

The astronauts Thursday made one of the smoothest and most accurate landings of the Apollo series, and cleared the way for the flight of Apollo 17 on Dec. 6, the final expedition of the $25.5 billion U. S. lunar exploration program.

They received a telephone call of congratulations from President Nixon in Key Biscayne, Fla. The President promoted Mattingly to commander and Duke to colonel. Navy regulations prevent Young from being an admiral for awhile. Nixon invited the astronauts to dinner at the White House in mid-June, and said he would use the occasion to present some moon rocks to Mexico's president, Luis Echeverria.

"Apollo 16 has written another glorious chapter in the history of man's exploration of the unknown," said Apollo program director Rocco Petrone, who watched Thursday's televised splashdown at the Mission Control Center in Houston.

Despite its close brush with failure just before the moon landing and several minor but irritating problems, Petrone predicted the mission "will go down in history as one of man's greatest moments in exploration."

Young, four times in space, was unusually talkative when he stepped on the deck of this fighting ship Thursday and called the flight "a mission of discovery."

"There are secrets in that vehicle right now," he said, referring to the command module which still was bobbing in the Pacific 1,519 miles south of Honolulu. "There's some basic knowledge and understanding in that vehicle right now."

Springing Ahead to Daylight Time

Obedient the old adage to "spring" ahead, Kristin Steeger, two and a half and her brother, Rob, prepare to set the clock for Daylight Saving Time. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steeger Jr. of Orchard Lane, Town of Lloyd are a step up on their elders who must remember to set clocks ahead one hour for the seasonal change slated officially at 2 a. m. Sunday. The traditional time change allows more daylight for cookouts, evening gardening and outdoor relaxing. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Capital Punishment Defeated in Assembly

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — To the hurrahs of a band of stubborn Democrats, the New York Assembly rejected Thursday night a conservative Republican's attempt to dust off the state's electric chair.

For the last five years the chair has been reserved for murderers of policemen and prison and jail guards, and persons convicted of murder while serving a life term. It was last used in 1963.

Declaring that the public is demanding capital punishment as a deterrent for a rising crime rate, Republican Assemblyman Robert Kelly of Brooklyn led off five hours of debate which climaxed with his bill falling 10 votes short of passage.

The 66-61 vote, with 76 votes needed for approval, was a bit of a surprise for supporters of the measure who were confident it would pass.

(Among those who voted for the return of capital punishment were Ulster County Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, Dutchess County Assemblyman Eniel Betros, Orange County Assemblyman Benjamin A. Gilman who is a GOP candidate for Congress in Ulster's new 26th Congressional District and Assemblyman Edwyn E. Mason of Hobart who is Republican candidate for the State Senatorial District.)

After the vote was announced, Kelly told a reporter, "Maybe it's political and maybe it's not. I'm not impugning anybody."

Kelly said he could check the roll call to see if there were enough possible yes votes among the absentees to make it worth the trouble of bringing the bill up again.

During the debate, Kelly glowered across the aisle at the Democrats who opposed his bill and said, "Everybody wants law and order, but it seems to me you are always afraid to put some teeth into it."

One of the Democrats who supported the bill was Assemblyman Burton Hecht of the Bronx, who said, "If you go back and ask your constituents if the death penalty should be restored, they would say yes—overwhelmingly yes."

But Deputy Minority Leader Albert Blumenthal of Manhattan quietly admonished, "Revenge with the electric chair will not eliminate fear. What comfort will the electric chair give to the (murder) victim?"

The vote defied any easy liberal-conservative label, with some Democrats favoring the measure and some Republicans voting against it.

Republican H.M. Miller of Fayetteville said he was voting against the bill because "I don't want my vote to add killing on killing."

And Assemblyman Fred Field, R-Albany, said restoring the death penalty would be "a giant step backward to the days of the Neanderthal man."

Assemblyman T.W. Brown, D-Albany, opposed the bill because "we should be speaking in favor of life—even the most depraved kind of life."

Stewart Hearings . . . MTA Still Silent

By TIM SCHUSTER

GOSHEN, N. Y. — Hearings on the proposed runway extension at Stewart Airport concluded here Thursday with the Metropolitan Transportation Authority still silent and almost everyone else quite vocal.

County Executive Louis V. Mills told The Freeman that the Legislature will review the testimony with an eye toward taking a position either pro or con, but he added that the primary objective of gathering all available data had been accomplished.

MTA representative Michael Fumerelli told Mills Thursday morning that MTA Chairman Dr. William Ronan had acknowledged Mills' plea to have testimony given, but had once again declined.

A filed statement from Gerald M. Hansler, Regional Administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, asked the question that had been asked by numerous others: "Finally, we question the need for expansion of the runway to 12,000 feet. The runways at LaGuardia are 7,000 feet long and can handle all commercial jets except 747s."

"According to FAA," he continued, "747s can land on an 8,000 foot runway. So it appears that mere strengthening of the existing runway would enable all existing aircraft to land."

And regarding land use around the airport, the EPA statement said, "There should be no new residences, schools or institutions built in this area. The mistakes of Kennedy and LaGuardia cannot be repeated; the use of property around the airport must be restricted."

The proposed upper limit of 200,000 movements at Stewart annually came in for some criticism from Allan Gussow of Friends of the Earth.

Gussow, a landscape architect, said that this would mean one takeoff and landing every 2.7 minutes 24 hours a day and that this "could not be an adverse condition."

Geri Brodsky, a spokeswoman for Earth Recovery Action, a Dutchess County based conservation group, said her group's mean one takeoff and landing every 2.7 minutes 24 hours a day and that this "could not be an adverse condition."

And in a slam at the MTA 12,000 foot runway?"

And the broader question, expected to be answered in June when the MTA will release its Phase One of the Master Plan, is: "If and when the runway is extended as proposed, what specific plans regarding passenger traffic, cargo traffic, volume of business, projected high-speed rail line to New York, and scope of development are on the drawing boards."

Faces Full Senate Vote

Kleindienst Over Crucial Hurdle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard G. Kleindienst has overcome perhaps the biggest hurdle, winning Senate Judiciary Committee approval in his bid to become attorney general. But he faces yet another roadblock before the full Senate.

The Judiciary Committee Thursday reaffirmed its confirmation of the Kleindienst nomination after a two-month investigation of alleged Justice Department improprieties in the settlement of an antitrust suit against International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

Liberal Democrats on the committee, defeated in their attempt to continue the hearings, said they would fight the Kleindienst nomination when it reaches the floor, probably several weeks from now.

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., an opponent of the nomination, said he favors full discussion of the issues before the full Senate, but added that he does not believe the debate will become a filibuster.

Sen. Quentin N. Burdick, D-

N.D., another who voted against the committee majority, said: "We do not have a complete record, and it would be unfair to Mr. Kleindienst and the Senate to base a decision upon the present contradictory and totally inadequate record."

Committee members have up any of the contradictions in the record.

Kleindienst said he did not recall details of conversations with Peter M. Flanagan, senior advisor to President Nixon, in which the ITT settlement was discussed.

He said Flanagan, Nixon's liaison man with business, might have told him a month before the settlement that ITT was unhappy with its terms but he could not remember.

"It was so insignificant, so immaterial and inconsistent with the posture I was assuming in this case, it just didn't stick in my mind," said Kleindienst.

He had previously testified, and repeated Thursday, that he had taken the position that Richard J. McLaren, then head of the antitrust division, would handle the case by himself.

On Feb. 29, the committee voted unanimously after two days of hearings to approve the Kleindienst nomination. That same day, syndicated columnist Jack Anderson published a memo linking settlement of the antitrust case with ITT's financial commitment to help San Diego obtain this summer's Republican National Convention.

Kleindienst denied the allegations immediately and asked that the committee reopen the hearings to enable him to answer the charges and clear away the cloud over his nomination. He repeated his denial Thursday.

LANDSLIDE — Tuesday's landslide on Hurley Mountain Road in the Town of Hurley resulted in the depositing of about 300 cubic yards of rock and soil into the highway. Eight Ulster County Highway Department trucks began removing the material Tuesday and were still engaged in the removal operation late Thursday. The slide occurred between Lamontville and County Road 8 which runs from the Hurley Bridge to Hurley Mountain Road. Area foreman, Austin Brown was in charge of the removal operation. Small landslides have occurred in the area but this week's slide marked the first time one of such magnitude took place. There were no injuries. (Freeman photo by Haines)

County Legislature to Get Traffic Safety Resolution

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — With $10,169 in federal funds available for the establishment of an Ulster County Traffic Safety Board, County Legislator Clifford W. Snyder (R-Dist. 1) aired his Sheriff's Committee proposal to wage war on local traffic deaths at an executive session of the Legislature Thursday night.

"As a legislative body responsible for 140,000 residents, we would be remiss if we did not take some affirmative action to prevent slaughter on the nation's roads," he said, adding that there were 54 deaths on Ulster County's roads last year and 49 in 1970. During 1971, he recalled, 55,000 Americans died in traffic deaths and five million were injured.

Snyder's resolution creating a traffic safety board was with drawn at the April meeting of the Legislature in order that members of the county board might have more time to study the proposal.

Snyder, members of the Sheriff's Committee and George Mulligan of the State of New York Interdepartmental Traffic Safety Committee, outlined the proposal at the executive meeting and the resolution is expected to come before the Legislature once again at its May 11 meeting.

Explaining the functions of the board which center largely on education and traffic safety studies, Snyder feels the creation of such a body would in effect be defensive action at minimum cost. "If one life can be saved, it would be worth while," he said.

The Sheriff's Committee chairman also pointed out that there is $80 million in funds for such boards available nationally this year and $5.5 million in New York State. If Ulster County does not apply for its share, then other counties who are already engaged in the program receive the money not used by Ulster. County shares are determined on a per capita basis with 7.2 cents per person allocated.

Specifically, the function of the board will be to promote and encourage street and highway traffic safety.

It will also formulate county-wide highway safety programs and coordinate the efforts of interested persons and agencies engaged in traffic safety education.

The board will work in close cooperation with local officials within the county in order to formulate and execute traffic safety programs and activities.

It is also required to study traffic conditions on streets and highways within the county, study and analyze reports of accidents and their causes and recommend to the legislature, departments or commissions any changes they advise with regard to rules, orders and regulations.

The board is also authorized to conduct meetings within the of the City of Kingston and the county and invite persons and agencies, public or private who are interested in traffic regulations, control and safety education.

It will obtain and assemble data on motor vehicle accidents and analyze, consolidate and study the data for educational and informational purposes.

The board will be required to promote safety education for drivers and pedestrians and coordinate and direct all local activities related to the implementation of the state highway safety program.

Under the proposal, Snyder said the board would be composed of 15 members appointed by the County Legislature, three of whom are to be residents

Additional Senior Housing Sought in City

KINGSTON — now serves as an advisor. The Kingston Housing Authority is seeking Common Council approval for the construction of from 100 to 140 units of senior citizen housing at Wiltwyck Gardens off Albany Avenue. The Freeman learned today.

The authority hosted a meeting with the city government Thursday night at Wiltwyck Gardens, attended by Mayor Francis R. Koenig, Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo, nine aldermen, George E. Yerry, chairman of the authority, Harry Gold, authority attorney and Alexander Yosman, former executive director of the authority who program would be funded by the federal government. With all approvals, it was declared that construction could start in about two years. The Council is being asked to give its approval at its regular Tuesday night meeting. There was no opposition expressed at the meeting last night.

Thirty-two single occupancy units were opened at Colonial Gardens in July of 1969. The authority has 30 single occupancy units at Wiltwyck and income, figured at 25 per cent of gross.

Plans call for the construction of the new units behind Wiltwyck Gardens, which will necessitate the driving of pilings to support the new buildings.

GOP Chairman Urges Override Of Grand Union Proposed Veto

Edward T. Feeney, Republican City chairman, called for the overriding of the veto for the proposed Grand Union Supermarket on Broadway in Kingston.

Feeney stated that at a meeting of the full Republican Committee, the Committee unanimously endorsed the establishing of the Grand Union at the site of the Old St. Anne Convent on Broadway in Kingston.

"It is our opinion," Feeney stated, "that the city should not limit or restrict private enterprise in our city, especially when it will benefit the tax rolls. This property will restore substantial income to the City tax rolls of the City of Kingston."

"It is the position of the Republican Party that the Democratic Party under the leadership of Mayor Francis R. Koenig and Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo have been practicing sectionalism in the city of Kingston and have not taken the interest of the entire city to heart. We of the Republican Party feel that the development of the downtown Urban Renewal area is important and we are in favor of the development of this area."

As was stated in the past by the contractors for the City Hall Plaza, that they feel that the Grand Union approved for that location would be in no way detrimental to their plans.

"The people of the City of Kingston should seriously sit down and analyze this entire situation, especially in view of the many new jobs the Grand Union would create for our citizens, the increase in sales tax revenue that could result by its construction and the value received from the transforming of a dormant property into a serviceable business enterprise for our community."

"The Republican City Committee unanimously approves the plan for the development of the Grand Union on this site and we ask all residents of the city to contact their Alderman and urge them to vote against the mayor's veto of this much needed business enterprise in our community," Feeney concluded.

PORT EWEN — impact on the scenic, recreational or natural resources of the (Hudson) Town of Esopus.

Under state law, the commission has the authority to review projects within one mile of the Hudson River, or up to two miles if the project would be visible from the river. Twenty-two projects with an estimated construction cost of $37.3 million were reviewed recently by the Town of Esopus project.

The project, sponsored by Shelter Realty Corp., will cost an estimated $3.5 million. It occupies a 52-acre site in the Town of Esopus.

Antibusing Hiker... Full Agenda on Tap

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mrs. Irene McCabe needed a rest today after her 620-mile march from Michigan to Washington, but chose instead another full day of antibusing work, topped off by a visit to the White House.

While some of the other mothers in her band took the day off or went sightseeing, Mrs. McCabe scheduled interviews early and late, talks with members of Congress and a chat with one of President Nixon's aides.

Her initial reception Thursday on the steps of Congress was friendly. Tanned, limping slightly from sore feet and wearing a bright orange sweater with the legend "Support Your Local Police" affixed to its back, Mrs. McCabe said, "Our movement is just beginning... when the South, North, East and West unite in one effort for one cause..."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, who greeted Mrs. McCabe and an estimated 2,000 other antibusing demonstrators who arrived in the capital at the same time, said, "You've got a great deal of support. I think you are going to be successful."

The Pontiac, Mich., housewife was likely to get an idea of the chances for that success in today's White House meeting with presidential aide John Ehrlichman. The administration has already decided not to support the antibusing constitutional amendment Mrs. McCabe favors.

Nixon, deciding the amendment route would take too long, asked Congress instead to enact

Catholic Businessmen Plea for Belfast Peace

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—A group of 32 London-derry Roman Catholic businessmen appealed for peace today and said they were sure Secretary of State William Whitelaw would be welcomed in the city's "no-go" Bogside district.

Whitelaw Thursday announced he was lifting the eight-month ban on processions in Northern Ireland and declared an amnesty for those who have been sentenced for taking part in illegal marches since Christmas.

Whitelaw's moves are part of his strategy to lessen tension in the province. Among those affected will be Parliament members Bernadette Devlin and Frank McNamara, who were sentenced to six months in jail for such marches.

Shortly after his announcement, gunmen seriously wounded in Belfast in what the army said was a deliberate attempt to stir up trouble. In East Belfast, gangs of Protestant youths stoned police and smashed windows for the second successive night.

The businessmen's appeal for peace was made in a half-page advertisement in today's Derry Journal. Many of those who signed the ad formerly held public office in the city but ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A $1.15 billion bond issue to give fresh life to the state's pure waters program and meet other environmental needs is on its way to a test before New York State voters in November.

The Assembly gave final legislative approval to the measure Thursday. It had passed the Senate unanimously Wednesday, and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has said he will sign the bill.

After long planning in the state Department of Environmental Conservation and the legislature's conservation committees, the measure was introduced early last month. It went through a two redraftings in response to criticisms voiced at a series of public hearings held across the state by the conservation committees.

By far the largest spending item in the measure is $650 million for building new sewage plants to control water pollution. That, says Environmental Conservation Commissioner Henry Diamond, will give the state "the best water pollution control system in the world."

A companion bill detailing the spending spells out these other items:

- $175 million for the state to pay 5 per cent of the cost of new solid waste disposal facilities.
- $50 million to curb air pollution from boilers and furnaces at state-owned institutions.
- $100 million for 50 per cent of the cost of curbing air pollution from boilers and furnaces run by local governments.
- $44 million to buy land to add to the Adirondack Forest Preserve.
- $15 million for land in the Catskills.
- $27 million for buying and protecting wetlands, including $18 million to purchase 5,000 acres of tidal wetlands on Long Island.
- $10 million for purchasing "unique areas" across the state.
- $40 million for new parks in or near metropolitan centers.
- $15 million for buying open lands in or near urban areas.

—$9 million to buy access to waterways for recreational use.

—$8 million for similar access to public lands.

—$3 million for buying public fishing rights on "quality streams."

—$4 million to close gaps in the state hiking trail network.

In trimming the measure from its original level of $1.2 billion, supporters cut $30 million for environmental education centers, $12 million for fish hatcheries and $8 million for recreation, including ski centers and the Lake Placid-Mt. Van Hoevenberg bobsled run.

Local officials testifying at the public hearings frequently said that the $140 million originally slated for solid waste disposal was not enough.

"This is one of our most serious problems—we are literally being buried by our own garbage," declared Albany Mayor Erastus Corning.

The allotment was increased 25 per cent to $175 million, but that may not satisfy all the critics. The Lindsay administration in New York City had quietly threatened to oppose the bond issue unless it included more for solid waste. Supporters of the measure hope that the legislation will change now that the legislation is accomplished.

Sen. Bernard C. Smith, R-Northport, a key sponsor, said the money will "only begin to bridge the technological gap between the archaic methods we use now to get rid of waste and the recycling we must use in the future."

Despite the $1 billion pure waters bond issue of 1965, the state's waters are still far from clean. Seventy-six sewage projects were completed with money from those bonds, and another 234 are fully funded and underway.

But in some critical areas—the lower Hudson River and the Niagara River, for example—the water is still poured into the sewer, and the bond issue money would provide funds to build long-delayed treatment plants.

Plans in the Department of Environmental Conservation contend the pure waters program of 1965 was just a start, although they show some embarrassment over the sometimes extravagant terms in which it was promulgated.

"You can swim in most of the Hudson River now, just as we promised in 1965, and with this new money we can go even further," says Deputy Commissioner Dwight Metzler.

The pure waters program is stalled now, with no new projects being prepared for ground-breaking, because there is no state money and because the replacement for the federal program that expired last year is stalled in a House-Senate conference committee.

If the bond issue passes and new federal legislation is approved, however, the $650 million in this bond issue could have a far greater spending impact on water pollution control than did the $1 billion.

Under either of the new pure waters bills now being considered by Congress, the federal share of sewage system construction costs would leap from the old program's 30 per cent to 70 or 75 per cent. Fewer state and local dollars will buy more sewage systems.

The $44 million for land in the Adirondacks is expected to go mostly for property adjacent to or surrounded by state-owned forest preserve land in the 6,000,000-acre Adirondack Park.

Pay Board Untangling Unsettled Case Backlog

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pay Board is steadily untangling a snarl of red tape that has delayed pay raises for hundreds of thousands of workers.

Its backlog of unsettled cases has declined by nearly half in the last two months, from 2,219 on Feb. 25 to 1,158 as of April 21, the board said Thursday.

The board's executive director, Robert Tiernan, said in an interview that even faster progress will be made in weeks to come.

Presently the board takes an average of 38 days to decide a case. Tiernan said that will be reduced to about 28 days within the next six weeks because the board has nearly completed drawing up detailed regulations and will begin turning its attention to individual cases.

Of 4,963 cases received so far, 2,112 didn't need any action by the Pay Board and were returned by the Internal Revenue Service with an explanation.

The cases involved fewer than 1,000 workers each, which generally don't require Pay Board action unless they are requests for exceptions to the board's 5.5-per-cent guideline.

The board has cleared its entire backlog of these cases, which now are handled mostly through the IRS.

The board also is whittling down its load of cases involving from 1,000 to 5,000 workers. These generally don't require advance approval, and are merely reported to the board. However, the staff must review the reports for any violations.

There are 756 of these cases remaining for action, down from 887 a month earlier.

The most important cases involve more than 5,000 workers or nonunion construction pay settlements. These require advance clearance. The board is barely holding its own in this area. There are 402 cases backed up, about the same as a month ago.

With the departure of four union members from the board, and its subsequent transformation into an all-public, seven-member body, the board has set up a streamlined procedure for handling big cases.

Those that fall within guidelines, or meet requirements for standard exceptions, are reviewed by staff teams and approved by Chairman George H. Boldt.

Roughly three big cases in 10 require special treatment. They are submitted to a three-man subcommittee. If Boldt accepts the subcommittee's recommendation, the decision is final. If he doesn't, it goes before the board for a final decision.

Exceptionally tough cases, such as the roughly 15-per-cent wage and fringe increase won by East Coast dock workers, get public hearings before the full board. The dockers get their hearing May 2.

Ulster Library Lists Fair-Art Show Dates

TOWN OF ULSTER
The second annual Outdoor Fair and Art Show of the Town of Ulster Library will be "bigger, better and more fun in 1972," according to Roy Freeman, general chairman. The fair will be held on the library grounds, 985 Morton

Boulevard, on Saturday, June 17, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. A handmade afghan donated by Mrs. Richard Nace and Mrs. Robert Carlisle will be raffled off at the close of the fair. Freeman said that the fair will include the traditional booths with homemade cakes and cookies, a flea market, books, rummage, antiques, and refreshments. Games for young and old plus live entertainment promise to make it an especially happy day, he predicted. Volunteer committee chairmen for the event are Paul

Chmura, Louise Flood, Marie Gorseline, Kay Krajick, Ed Langton, Bette Maxson, Richard Nace, Marion Ostrander, and Jo Sande. The art show will be expanded this year to include all creative handicrafts and will be under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. William East. Donations of articles, books, clothing household items, furniture or bric-a-brac may be left at the library Monday through Thursday from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m., Friday from 2 to 5 p.m., and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Auto Romance Fading

America's love affair with the automobile is going to end up like so many other once-exciting romances—in a dull and disillusioning marriage of convenience.

Already, owners of 1972 models are being made aware of one cost of federal antipollution requirements in poorer gas mileage and performance.

We haven't seen anything yet.

Beginning in 1973, new bumper requirements will raise the cost of cars about $150 over current models. And the price per vehicle may climb an additional $700 by 1976 as passive restraint systems and other safety features are adopted, along with more complete emission control systems, says Production magazine.

Automobile designers, who work several model years ahead, are beginning to have nightmares. Because of scheduled federal regulations, major changes will be necessary in many of the automobile's primary components.

Engines will have new and more expensive hang-on systems added to satisfy emission standards. Redesign of front and rear ends, including the frame and sheet metal, will be necessary to accommodate the energy-absorbing bumper system. Passive restraint system will necessitate fundamental interior redesigning and structural changes to beef up the dash panel and roof.

All of which means added weight, and added weight means bigger engines and bigger brakes, and bigger everything means a bigger sticker price and more expensive operation.

The Wankel rotary engine may be a help here. But space and weight savings realized by using this smaller, lighter engine will be eaten up by complicated emission control systems crammed under the hood.

Even by 1976 we won't have seen anything.

The 1980 car will be "enormously expensive," predicts automotive writer Daniel A. Jedlicka, in an article in Harper's magazine.

Based on General Motors' experience with its experimental safety vehicle (ESV), it figures out to about $8,000, the price of a Cadillac or a Lincoln today.

And the car of 1980 will not be a luxury car. Neither will it have distinctive styling, as bumpers, headlights, taillights and so on are standardized.

What's worse, the highway-safe car probably will not be allowed in cities, he says, because its massiveness would create no end of congestion. But even a small car in 1980 is likely to cost about the same as a large car today. This would leave many people in the position of being unable to afford to drive on highways if the smaller, cheaper city-urban car is banned from them.

"We in the automobile industry face the question of whether the extra cost of meeting government standards will price our products beyond reach, not only to those who want them but those who need them," worries Richard C. Gerstenberg, chairman of GM.

"We may be setting off a big splurge of second-hand car buying and old-car restoration," says Howard P. Peers, chief engineer of Ford's Product Development Group.

Or else there's going to be one heck of a boom in motorcycles.

In any event, people are about to enter a strange new motoring world, says Jedlicka.

"Today, there is still a sense of connection to the automobile's early days, when all cars were adventuresome, fun-to-drive machines. That feeling will be gone by 1980.

"As with air travel, driving in 1980 will be about as stimulating as drinking warm milk."

WASHINGTON — Communist Bulgaria is Russia's favorite satellite in the Balkans. And, like Russia Bulgaria interminably lectures the world about the virtues of "socialist morality."

Its puritanical pretending leaders, however, have turned Bulgaria into a lucrative drug paradise for international narcotics gangsters.

A classified Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) document calls Bulgaria the "new center for directing narcotics and arms trafficking between Western Europe and the Near East." Some of this dope, the CIA believes, winds up on the streets of New York City.

The CIA, whose activities in Communist lands usually involve cloak-and-dagger espionage work, has turned to narcotics investigations in Bulgaria. Its findings are described in a brilliantly written, 38 page report dated last December.

The study, stamped "Confidential," is titled, "The French-Turkish Connection: The Movement of Opium and Morphine Base From Turkey to France."

While the study deals with the narcotics trade throughout Europe, its major surprise is that Bulgaria, whose Marxist morality is legendary in Europe, has become "a safe haven from where major narcotics operations are directed."

"The role of Bulgaria in the field of international narcotics has increased tremendously in the last several years," says the "intelligence memorandum" from the CIA's Office of Strategic Research.

Red Heroin Trade

"French and UK (British) police officials have also voiced their belief that Bulgarian government officials may be actively involved in selling seized Turkish narcotics to French traffickers."

While Turkish and Iranian trucks routed through Bulgaria are rigorously inspected, says the CIA document, "Bulgarian trucks hired to haul Turkish cargoes reportedly are normally excluded from inspection."

The document also declares: "If a narcotics smuggler is caught in Bulgaria, he reportedly pays a small fine for the violation and then is given the opportunity to repurchase his seized shipment of narcotics for a certain percentage of its estimated value. The apprehended smuggler thus loses only a small part of his courier's fee and a few hours of his time."

By this means, Bulgaria reaps millions in underworld narcotics money, which indirectly supports the braggadocio of their broadsheets, newspapers and U.N. diplomats about "socialist morality" and the virtues of clean Communist living.

Deadly Dirt

Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) officials temporarily blocked one of their most prominent pediatricians from warning the Senate that lead from car exhausts can poison ghetto children.

The pediatrician, Dr. Jane Lin Fu, was contacted by the Senate Environmental subcommittee, now holding hearings on federal standards for lead in the atmosphere.

Dr. Lin Fu cautioned the subcommittee staff that much lead from car exhausts sifts down into city dirt. Since undernourished ghetto youngsters often eat this lead-poisoned dirt, their bodies have far more dangerous lead levels than they would get merely from breathing the air.

At the staff's request, Dr. Lin Fu agreed to write a letter to Sen. Phil Hart, D-Mich., the subcommittee chairman, outlining her fears. She said, however, she would first have to clear her letter with HEW.

As the hearing date approached, subcommittee staffers anxiously called the office of Dr. John Zapp, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Health Legislation. Zapp "clears" the statements, a euphemism for censorship, before they are sent on to Congress.

His secretary, Natalie Ruvel, promised that the important but controversial letter would be ready in time. But on the morning of the hearings, Zapp's secretary informed the subcommittee the statement could not be cleared.

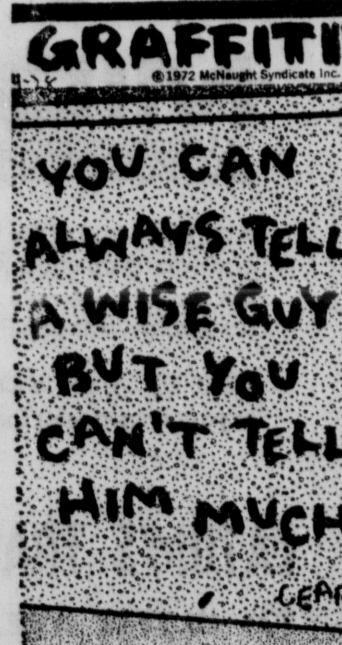

She confessed to them that it would "embarrass the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)." When questioned her, however, she said she was not sure she mentioned EPA by name. She said she told the staffers that the Lin Fu letter contained "gratuitous statements."

Our inquiries apparently have broken the letter loose. "If the committee wants the letter, they'll have it," Zapp told us. "We didn't have time to clear it for the hearing."

BOSTON — Perhaps one of the renowned minds of Massachusetts, Harvard psychologist B. F. Skinner, can explain the phenomenon of George McGovern.

Perhaps Skinner can't, since the Skinner thesis of human behavior seems to be under assault by this new force in politics. A Pavlovian stimulus-and-response newly trumpeted by Skinner has pretty much described American politics lately, but McGovern may be shattering the syndrome with a counterforce called human dialogue.

In Republican politics the stimulus of law-and-order plus peace-in-Vietnam in 1968 produced the response of votes for Richard Nixon. In Democratic politics this year Sens. Hubert Humphrey and Edmund Muskie provided the stimuli of labor-leader and big-shot-politico endorsements. The response, however, has been uncontrolled.

"Some dialogue, that's all we asked for," said George McGovern about the Massachusetts campaign. "I came here a year ago and tried to make short speeches with lengthy Q-and-A sessions. That's how we got volunteers. People would come up afterward and talk about issues and said they'd like to help."

As McGovern made his way through the loading docks and assembly lines of Massachusetts, workers told him that a young McGovern canvasser had been to their home to discuss the war in Vietnam or the economy: "Even if they didn't agree with my position, say, on amnesty, they appreciated the idea of real dialogue."

"Of course, this state is alive with politics and people are so keenly interested in issues that it's a delight to talk with people even if they disagree with you," said McGovern.

But this state was supposed to be alien to the idea of human dialogue. This is the state that produced such sagas of ethnic and economic discord as "The Late George Akeley" and "The Last Hurrah." Both novels could serve as a "Skinner box," trapping the electorate in a theory of mutual stimuli and response. This theory would not allow sherry-sipping J. Kenneth Galbraith of Harvard to share the same enthusiasms of Joe Sixpack in Dorchester at the other end of the subway line.

McGovern demolished the theory by scheduling his appearances where he needed to: "We went to construction sites, factories, police stations. I haven't been near Harvard all year. If they're not for me by now, who cares?"

Throughout blue-collar Massachusetts (approximately 56 per cent of the population), the proper media-built stimulus for McGovern was "left-wing radical." That is not what the voters responded to.

They saw a man who made his way out of halls slowly, pausing for real conversation, not trying to seem in a self-important hurry. They saw a singular man, unaccompanied by politicians or labor leaders.

They saw a man who did not seem anxious to preach, but a man who could ask voters to "restore the sense of caring for each other as human beings" and get away with it.

In George McGovern the voters of Massachusetts saw a man who wanted to listen, learn and share ideas, not a man seeking a response from a bag of political-trickery stimuli.

Above all, they saw a man who did not seem to be trying to manipulate them. In 1972 America that's a precious prize.

A Comment on Press Relations

It is difficult not to sympathize with President Nixon in his anguish over being pilloried by the press. The man has been hurt. It is equally difficult not to take a free kick at a President who hides in silence behind subordinates like Vice President Spiro Agnew and former assistant James Keogh, while urging them to pillory the press.

Mr. Nixon has always been a gut fighter. He shoots from the hip and has never known to warn an adversary to "draw." The newest attack is published in "Reader's Digest." It was written by Mr. Keogh, who divorced himself from the Nixon administration, but still loves "the boss."

Both Keogh and "Reader's Digest" are effective weapons. He is part of the press because he was an editor at the "Omaha World-Herald," later an editor of "Time," the Weekly News-magazine. Or should that be "noosemagazine"?

This gives him press credentials and makes his attack on the press an expression of remorse, or a flaw in press character he saw only after he joined Nixon. "Reader's Digest," master of the human interest story, has rarely — if ever — lent itself to a blanket indictment of its own craft.

Error on Both Sides
It is impossible to weigh the merits of the case by reading Keogh's article. He picks obvious errors on the part of the press and columnists, and makes them appear to be paranoid persecutors of his man Nixon. It is equally easy to select Presidential errors of policy and utterances which would make Nixon appear to be accident-prone.

To cite one instance — one which Nixon and Keogh would prefer to bury — publisher John S. Knight reminded readers of his column that Richard Nixon said: "I pledge to end this war in a way that would increase our chances to win true and lasting peace in Vietnam, in the Pacific and the world. I am determined to keep that pledge. If I fail to do so, I expect the American people to hold me accountable for that failure."

The war and inflation have been, and are, the big issues. Neither honest James Keogh nor the pious editors of "Reader's Digest" see any objective value in reciting the blunders of the Nixon administration. It is good journalism, apparently, to attack the liberal journalists and TV commentators who are suspicious of the President, but bad journalism to admit that they were ever right.

Mr. Nixon has never been able to understand why he cannot smile the press into writing nice things about him. At this point, my sympathy for him surfaces. He does not comprehend that from the time this nation was organized the press has always seen its proper niche as an adversary of the politician.

Always. Not just Nixon. Ask your governor; your senator. George Washington hated the press. In 1940, when Franklin Roosevelt ran for a third term against Wendell Willkie, 94 per cent of the press opposed FDR. He learned to live with it, and win.

There were no Presidential press conferences before McKinley got into office. The suspicion which the press felt toward all politicians was returned ten-fold by the office holders. They were terrified of reporters — properly so.

Nixon's greatest mistake, in my opinion, was to retreat into secrecy. This forced the reporters and columnists to speculate — not on what was news, but on what might happen. The so-called background story often drove Nixon, Keogh, Herb Klein and Ron Ziegler up a wall.

A good percentage of the press has been fair — indeed biased — toward the President. Agnew has never acknowledged this. In fact, his cheap shots, executed in dismal alliterative style, may have alienated political friends. In my opinion, any President who attacks the press is, in effect, using a water pistol on Fort Knox. He cannot win against those who address a hundred million people every day — with the people paying for the opinions.

We are in an election year and Mr. Nixon is going to need all the friends he can acquire. Obviously, he is not clever at standing on his feet to answer the flip questions which come up at an open press conference. Who can fault him for asking for written questions and for answering only those which there are answers?

The President may find it in his heart to forgive those "instant analysts" on the television tube and the editorial pages of the newspapers if he recalls the definition of a literary critic: "He's the one who thinks he should have written the book." ...

State Lottery Drawing . . . Very Sophisticated Affair

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON — New York State brought its "get rich quick" scheme to Kingston Thursday, and amid flashing numbers, spinning drums and the whirl of a computer, a new weekly lottery number was born.

Close to 500 persons — many of whom traded anxious glances at the magic numbers on the "big board" with their own lottery tickets — crowded around a sophisticated array of digital equipment at Kingston Plaza.

Thursday marked the first time that the state's weekly 50-cent lottery number was drawn outside the Albany or New York City metropolitan areas. And, it marked the first time that the drawing was held outdoors.

It took almost 30 minutes to draw the winning number, as Ted Aber, an official with the State Department of Taxation and Finance and the "emcee" for the event, carefully explained each step of the drawing.

The last four digits of the six-digit lottery number are obtained at random by spinning which displays the numerals "1" through "9."

The first drum was spun shortly after 11:30 a.m. It stopped at numeral "8." The second drum stopped at numeral "6." The third drum came up "8," and the fourth drum stopped at "9."

With the last four digits of the lottery number established at "8669," officials made a quick check with their computer in Albany to make sure that at least some of the tickets sold had that exact sequence.

Then a fifth drum was set in motion to determine the first two digits of the lottery number. And this is where the whole plan gets complicated.

The fifth drum displays the numerals "01" through "99." It's spun nine times (for nine different "post positions"), and when this phase of the drawing is over, nine potential winning numbers have been selected.

The winning number is determined by the results of a horse race, and for a half-literally a horse race, and for a good reason. If a horse race day is not used at some point in driving a lottery, the state would have to pay the federal government society may contact Mrs. Milton in Wagenfohr, Box 263, Stone Ridge, 12484 for information.

A film of a particular horse race is selected at random, and displayed on a screen. The position of the winning horse determines the post position of the winning lottery number.

On Thursday night, Kingston Plaza, the fourth race at Tropical Park on Jan. 10, 1959 was re-run. The winning horse ran from post position six; the lottery number that occupied post position six Thursday was "256689." That left six people very happy (and very rich) and left about six million others to try again next week.

A number of local officials participated in the drawing by randomly stopping the spinning drums, apparently to remove any doubts that the state controls the winning number.

Among those who assisted Thursday were: James Wiley, general manager of WBAZ; Joe Shuler, general manager of WKNY; Tony Bell, general manager of WGHQ; Peter W. Barrecchia, managing editor of The Daily Freeman; Al Werbalowsky, president of the Kingston Plaza Merchants Association; Eugene Phelps, manager of the Grand Union Kingston Plaza Store and Kingston Mayor Francis R. Koenig.

The trip will be under the leadership of Dr. Robert Wiley of New Paltz. It will be a half-day trip involving walking and driving.

Those interested in joining the trip may contact Mrs. Milton in Wagenfohr, Box 263, Stone Ridge, 12484 for information.

U.S. Magistrate Releases Persico on Personal Bond

BROOKLYN — The judge to allow Persico to enter the southern district of New York so he could spend time in his Saugerties home and also travel to Atlanta for visits with his brother. Catoggio objected, contending that killings have followed such visits. Catoggio, however, granted Persico's request and he will be allowed to spend time at his estate in Ulster County. Carmine Persico had been rumored to be the successor to Joe Colombo's alleged underworld empire.

Last Monday, a large detail of FBI agents and State Police BCI raided a residence on the BCI Mountain Manor Horse Farm, reportedly owned by Carmine.

The raid, that resulted in the seizure of several guns of various calibers and make, and a cache of ammunition, followed the arrest of Alphonse and three other men and a woman as they drove from the estate in two cars. The men were charged with violations of the state weapons law after guns were found in their cars.

Authorities believe the farmhouse was being used as an arsenal and hideout for members of the Persico clan fearing reprisal from the Gallos for "Crazy Joe's" murder in the Little Italy section of Brooklyn last this month.

Commenting that "brother love" was not involved in the visits, Druker charged that Alphonse was acting as a liaison so the jailed brother could continue to rule his reputed underworld operations.

The connection between the Persicos and the gangland slayings was made at the arraignment of Alphonse here yesterday on the false statement charges.

Catoggio released Alphonse on $5,000 bond pending grand jury action. With bail set, Alphonse would not be able to leave the eastern district of New York.

It was at that point, the defendant's attorney requested

Lions Club Exposition .... Attendance Rising

KINGSTON — The Expo concludes Saturday night with the drawing of grand prize winners. Paul Martino of Madison Avenue, Ronald Diers of 20 Adams Street and Vince DeLuca of 68 Prince Street have qualified thus far for the five grand prizes; two other eligibles will be selected tonight and Saturday night.

Attendance has increased each night since the Expo began Tuesday. Officials anticipate the largest crowds tonight and Saturday.

The doors open at 7 p.m.

BOCES Budget Down Due to Cutbacks

NEW PALTZ — The Ulster County BOCES budget adopted Thursday night is down $116.86 from last year's budget due to cutbacks in programs.

The budget for 1972-73 is $2,130,610 as compared to the $2,247,196 budget for the current school year. George Fernandez, assistant superintendent of BOCES said that a number of the programs cut back by the Board of Cooperative Educational Services are being assumed by the component schools particularly in the area of special education.

Youth Club Sets Meeting

RIFTON — Recreation and other projects for the welfare of the young people residing in this community will be discussed Sunday afternoon at an important meeting of the Rifton Youth Club, Inc., to be held at the Rifton Firehouse hall Sunday afternoon, April 30 at 4 p.m.

Joseph Feraca, chief of the town of Esopus police and founder-organizer of the club, said all parents of the community are invited to attend the session and participate in discussions on the subjects of projects that probably will be undertaken in future weeks for the youth of the area.

Feraca said that a membership drive will be conducted soon. Plans for that will be aired at the meeting.

Talks are continuing although no action has been taken by either BOCES or community college officials. Three options are under consideration. Complete use of a building at the Stone Ridge campus; partial use of several buildings; and utilization of a 55-acre parcel of land owned by the county have been discussed.

Fernandez said the possibility of the first option "did not look good." He noted that "many problems" were involved in using sections of buildings. The third suggestion is still under study.

Dr. Cary Wood, director of the regional planning office, New Paltz, presented a report on projects undertaken by the four-county educational unit.

William A. Cook, associate professor of Surgery at Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York City, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Mid-Hudson Heart Association Inc., on Sunday, May 7 at 5:30 p. m. at the Capri 400 in Port Ewen. Recipient of a grant from the local heart association last year, Cook has published more than 50 articles on thoracic surgery and circulatory problems and will speak on his year-long study of pulmonary circulation. The public is invited to attend the meeting. Reservations should be made.

City Board Issues Plea On Voting

KINGSTON — Three vacancies on the Board of Education will be filled; two of five year terms and a three year term. There are eight voters to "exercise their franchise" and vote in this year's May 2 school board elections.

For the first time, persons 18 and 20 years of age are eligible to vote this year in the school election. The Board of Education, however, pointed out that law requires that a voter must be 18-years-old on or before May 3, 1972, to be eligible to cast a ballot.

Brandt Fails to Win Test-of-Strength Vote

BONN (AP) — The West German Bundestag deadlocked today as Chancellor Willy Brandt failed to win a test-of-strength vote. The 247-247 tie with one abstention deepened the crisis for the Socialist chancellor and his 2½-year-old regime.

The vote on the budget for the chancellor's office, coupled with the failure Thursday of an opposition motion of no-confidence in Brandt, demonstrated that at present neither the Socialist chancellor nor his conservative opponents in the Christian Democrats party can muster a majority of the 496 members in the lower house of parliament.

In the debate before the vote, Brandt called on the Christian Democrats to help adopt his legislative program and raised the possibility of a general election if deadlock paralyzed the government. He said he was ready to talk about going to the voters if his "capability of action" cannot be assured otherwise.

Immediately after the setback, Brandt told parliament: "The federal government regrets that its draft legislation could not be approved because of this tie."

"I now request the support of this house on the third reading" of the proposed budget for running his chancellor's office. This is the final reading.

The date for the third reading was to be fixed later.

Mourning Days Decreed In Republic of Guinea

DAKAR, Senegal (UPI) — Radio Conakry said today three days of mourning had been decreed in the Republic of Guinea for Kwame Nkrumah, the exiled former president of Ghana. The death of Nkrumah, 63, was disclosed Thursday.

President Ahmed Sekou Toure of Guinea himself announced the death, according to Radio Dakar in the neighboring Republic of Senegal. No funeral arrangements were announced.

Sekou Toure proclaimed mourning for the exiled Nkrumah although he was forced out of public life in Conakry in recent years after a brief and none-too-popular period as the nation's honorary co-president.

Guinea gave sanctuary to Nkrumah after he was overthrown six years ago in Ghana where he was known as "The Redeemer."

Sekou Toure did not say what the cause of death was but diplomats in Dakar said Nkrumah had been ill with cancer for years and had sought treatment in Europe.

Nkrumah, educated at the University of Pennsylvania and at the London School of Economics, led his people from British colonial rule to independence in 1957. He established Ghana as a republic in 1960 and became an important voice in a movement to unite Africa. He wrote in his autobiography, "I never considered that the struggle for the independence of Ghana was an isolated objective, but I always envisaged it on the world scale."

As Nkrumah's ideas of African unification grew, so did his own cult of personality. Accra's main street was named after him and a monumental fountain and statue were erected in his honor. His likeness appeared on all coins. Street vendors sold postcards showing him as a Christ-like figure or as St. George slaying the dragon of imperialism.

A majority in a national referendum gave him near-dictatorial powers and turned Ghana into a one-party nation. After a policeman tried to assassinate him, Nkrumah isolated himself in his official residence and left his home only when he decided to play another role on the world stage by flying to Peking and Moscow in 1966 in an attempt to end the Vietnam war.

Under the permanent registration system, young people who are not yet 18-years-old are allowed to register for the November elections provided the individual will be 18 by election day. This means that while some young people may be registered, they may not be permitted to vote in the school district election unless they are 18 on or before May 3.

In order to avoid confusion, these voters will be asked to present proof of age when they vote on Tuesday. A driver's license or a birth certificate will be accepted as proof of age.

House Fire Is Quelled

WOODSTOCK — Two units from the Woodstock Fire Department quelled a stubborn fire that extensively damaged the home of Sean C. Hartnett of the Wittenberg Mt. Tremper Road on Thursday.

First Assistant Chief Robert Rifenberg said the fire originated over the cathedral-type ceiling and mushroomed in both directions and up through the roof, burning a hole about four feet in dimension. The chief, who was at the scene with 20 men from Woodstock Co. 1 and Wittenberg Company 2, said the blaze was caused by an overheated stove pipe.

Firefighters made a good stop in battling the flames, it was reported. Firemen were at the scene about three hours, according to an official.

Kite Contest Off

Ellenville Chamber of Commerce kite-flying contest, previously scheduled for Saturday, April 29, has been canceled indefinitely.

Law Day Talk Heard

KINGSTON — Law Day U.S.A., scheduled for recognition on Monday, May 1, was brought to the attention of the Kingston Kiwanis Club at its Thursday meeting by local attorney Nancy Riseley.

Mrs. Riseley gave a brief talk concerning the law and what it means to the freedom of the American people, focusing upon the role of law in improving our society and strengthening the legal process. Reforms currently receiving the attention of the legal profession include both environmental and social reforms, aimed at increasing the efficiency and fairness of the legal system itself.

A conclusion to the program came in the form of a motion picture, shown by Warren Russell, and depicting the present jury system as an "excellent commitment on the part of citizens in exercising their rights and responsibilities of citizenship."

Local Deaths

Miss Christina Hess

Miss Christina Hess, 90, of Hurley died this morning after a long illness. Miss Hess had worked as a beautician, having operated one of the finest shops in Kingston on Fair Street until her retirement several years ago. She was a member of the Fair Street Reformed Church, Russell, and depicting the present jury system as an "excellent commitment on the part of citizens in exercising their rights and responsibilities of citizenship."

Funeral services will be held from the Keyser Funeral Service, Kingston Chapel, Albany and Manor Avenues, Monday at 11 a.m. with the Rev. Randall Bosch, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church, officiating. Burial in Bloomington Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 7-9 p. m.

Rosendale Dems Head Is Tabbed

William Walsh of Rosendale was named acting president of the newly reactivated Rosendale Democratic Club. Twenty-one persons turned out at a meeting recently at which it was determined that nominations for permanent officers be tabbed to a later date. A nominating committee will be established at the next meeting scheduled for Tuesday, May 30 at 7:30 p.m. at Ray's Village Inn. Anyone interested may attend. Future plans and the reorganization of the club were the main topics of discussion with a fashion show, auction, art demonstration and exhibition among the many events contemplated.

Little Mary Sunshine, Very Bright Production

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PLATZ, "Little Mary Sunshine," being presented by Ninety Miles Off Broadway in New Platz, is offered in a spirit of fun and succeeds through sheer irrelevance. The plot is feebleness itself. It is the old girl-who-can't-meet-her-mortgage-payments-but-who-is-rescued-by-good-fortune-and-gains-the-love-of-the-man-of-her-choice genre carried to its logical conclusion, and is therefore preposterous.

The dramatis personae include a heroine who is the embodiment of sweetness and light, her noble tutor, a platoon of Forest Rangers complete with red coats and a stirring theme song, Indian, an opera singer, a man-hungry maid, a retired general, and the young ladies of the Eastchester Finishing School. This pretty clearly indicates that Rick Besoyan, who wrote the book, music, and lyrics, had a comedy in mind.

The plot claims that Little Mary Sunshine (that really is her name) was raised by Chief Brown Bear after he found her in the woods of Colorado. She had strayed while berry-picking. Chief Brown Bear gave her her name, thinking it suited her.

Little Mary has set up the Colorado Inn, on Indian land, but can't meet her mortgage payments to the U. S. Government, as the sales of her cookies are down. Chief Brown Bear has a suit before the Supreme Court to get his lands. He thinks he and the aged Fleet Foot are the last two Kadota Indians, but he does not realize his son, the perfidious and thoroughly rotten Yellow Feather, still lives. Enter the Forest Rangers, under Little Mary's true love, Capt. "Big Jim" Warrington, bent on capturing Yellow Feather and making a model citizen out of him. Things develop from there. To ease the minds of those who may have doubts, Little Mary keeps her inn and gets Big Jim. It should be noted that the Forest Rangers all get engaged to the Eastchester Finishing School girls, and the teacherous and truculent Yellow Feather is thwarted in his attempt to "have his way" in an unspecified manner with Little Mary, the man-hungry maid gets her man, and the opera singer allies herself with a retired general. The whole cast, under Frank Kraat's direction, performs well. They give the play exactly the sort of mock serious over-acting it requires. It's hard to single performers out for praise, but George Grope and Ginny Ferri, as Big Jim and Little Mary, are excellent. Joe Paparone makes a fine Indian chief, Sue Kraat as Nancy Twinkle, the maid, is properly outrageous, and Gordon Kreth as the general is a master of harmless lechery. The songs are pleasant, silly, and well-sung, and the choreography by Kraat is well integrated into the production. The sets, by Thomas Green and Robert Mahoney, are the sort of sham Colorado they should be, the orchestra under Albert Rothstein's direction is good, and Toby Scott's lighting comes off well.

Ninety Miles Off Broadway productions are generally good, and this one is another success. The play will be show tonight and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at the New Platz High School Auditorium on South Putt Corners Road. Tickets may be obtained from the Little Red House of Gifts, and all seats are reserved. This play won't it should anyone's mind but it should certainly amuse. And you can take the family.

Mexican Cardiologists Cite Treatment Advance

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mexican cardiologists reported today that their controversial "polarization treatment" of one kind of heart attack has cut the fatality rate in half. The kind of myocardial infarction — kills 600,000 annually in the United States. The treatment has been developed over the last 12 years at the Mexican National Institute of Cardiology. The research had been done largely on dogs, and only recently has the treatment been given to a large number of humans. In the United States, the method has been criticized as unproven, although some Americans have been experimenting with it. The Mexican conclusions were reported at the Interamerican Congress of Cardiology.

Myocardial infarction — the main cause of coronary death — is the death or damaging of a part of the heart muscle caused by a reduction in the blood supply to the area. An abnormal heart beat can result, and then death is swift. Dr. Abdo Bisteni of the Mexican Institute said that of those with infarction who reach a coronary care unit, 12 to 15 per cent die. The number who die of this cause without reaching a hospital is unknown. The Mexicans, who have tried their treatment on 2,000 dogs, announced that in the last two years it has been given to 250 patients. Only 6 per cent died.

What the Mexicans do is to restore injured heart tissue to health with "a polarization solution" injected in the patient intravenously. The injured cell is electrically out of balance, and the solution is intended to restore equilibrium. Bisteni said the injured cell is out of balance because potassium leaves it through holes in its cell's membrane wall, while sodium enters the cell from outside. The purpose of the solution is to restore the chemical balance. This, in turn, theoretically restores the electrical balance. The solution, originally developed by Dr. Demetrio Sodi-Pallares, is a mixture of potassium chloride, glucose and insulin in water.

'Bobby' Baker To Be Paroled

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Robert G. "Bobby" Baker, who as a former protégé of Lyndon B. Johnson used his influential Senate staff position to become a millionaire, will be released from federal prison June 1. The U.S. Parole Board approved Baker's parole application Thursday. He will have served almost 18 months in the Lewisburg, Pa., penitentiary when he is released. Baker, 43, was sentenced to three years after he was convicted of attempting to evade taxes, grand larceny, interstate transportation of stolen money and fraud. When Johnson was Senate Democratic leader, Baker held the job as secretary to Senate Democrats. Still pending is a Justice Department suit which asks that federal court order Baker to give a full accounting of what was estimated to be his $1.7 million net worth. The suit, filed in 1969, asks that Baker be required to return at least part of the money because he obtained it in a conflict of interests with his Senate job.

Environmental Task Force to Sponsor Special Paper Drive

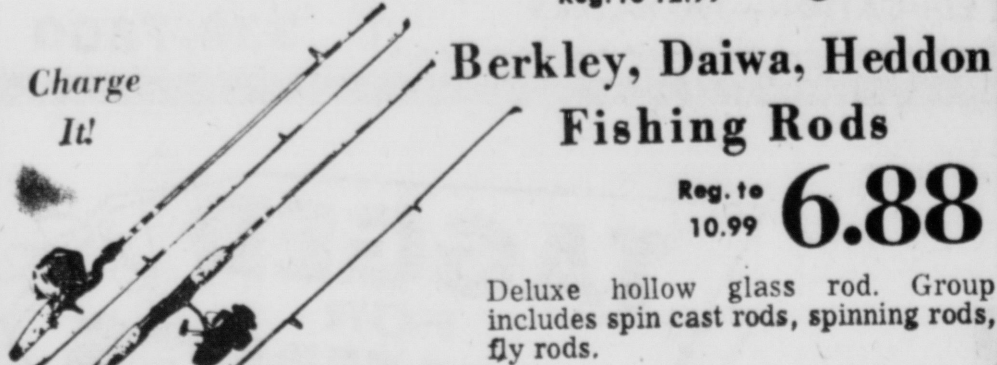

KINGSTON office, school and home stationery, ditto and mimeograph paper and Xerox paper. Chemically treated paper used on other brands of copy machines, and carbon paper, will not be accepted. As usual, all paper should be collected in this and future drives, which will further help to relieve Ulster County's overburdened landfills. Major depots for the approaching drive will be located in Kingston and Woodstock. Exact locations will be announced later. Charles Cole, superintendent of the Department of Public Works, has announced that he will again make his department available to pick up paper from the homes of shut-ins. Calls for pick-up service should be made to the DPW on May 20 or 21. Rosendale and Ellenville, to date, are the only townships in Ulster County that have established permanent recycling depots. The Ellenville depot on Berne Road is open Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. In addition to its permanent depot, the Town of Rosendale will have a truck at the Rosendale Shopping Center on May 13 and May 27. On Saturday, May 20, the Town of Olive will provide a truck that will pick up recyclable materials that are deposited along town roads before 9 a.m. that morning. Persons residing in a community that has not yet established a permanent recycling depot should contact the Environmental Task Force, which will work for its implementation.

Summer Weddings Being Planned

CAROLE ANN JORDAN
(Lakeside Studio)

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Walker Sr. of RD 2, Box 31A, Sawkill Road, Kingston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Debra Jo Ann, to Daniel Edward Pape, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen C. Pape, Breckenridge Village, Selkirk.

Miss Walker is a graduate of Kingston High School and has attended Ulster County Community College. She is employed by Kingston Internal Revenue Service.

Her fiancé is an alumnus of Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk Central High School and has attended Union College and UCC. He is employed as a programmer by IBM.

A June 2 wedding is being planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Jordan of Kingston announce the engagement of their daughter, Carole Ann, to Robert Joseph Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. David T. Hunter of Belmont, Mass.

Miss Jordan is a graduate of Kingston High School. She received her BA degree from State University College at Oswego and her MS degree in Education from State University College at New Paltz. Miss Jordan is employed by the Kingston Consolidated School system as a teacher in the Lake Katrine School.

Her fiancé, a graduate of Belmont High School, earned a Bachelor of Science degree and a Master's degree in Business Administration from Boston College. He has completed his active military duty and is now a lieutenant in the U.S. Army Reserve, and is employed as an assistant product manager, Chemical Division, Compo Industries, Waltham, Mass.

An August 19 wedding is being planned.

Fashion Show Is Scheduled

The big "event" in Millbrook this spring is a fashion show sponsored by the Ladies Guild of St. Joseph's Church, and titled "The Good Old Summertime." It is being held Wednesday and Thursday, May 3rd and 4th at the St. Joseph's School. Mrs. Eugene Gilhuly will be the commentator, and as fashion is her business, she has given invaluable assistance in preliminary planning for the show. Mrs. Gilhuly lives in Stanfordville and is the fashion design instructor at Bennett College.

Three of Millbrook's leading shops will participate in the show. Charlotte's Dress Shop will offer women's clothing; the Millbrook Men's Shop the latest attire for the male; and the Village Department Store is showing everything for the well dressed child.

This show promises something for everyone. In addition to the newest styles in a kaleidoscope of color, several awards will be presented.

Fifteen Millbrook women will be modeling the ladies clothing in the show, and all sizes will be represented. Five gentlemen will sport the apparel from the Men's shop, which is an interesting innovation for this first Guild fashion Show, and six of Millbrook's most charming youngsters will "show off" the clothing from the Village Department store.

Mrs. James M. Kennedy is the chairman of the show. Tickets for it may be purchased from any member of the Guild.

Doing the Right Thing

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please answer a question for me? I have a friend who had a child and is not married. Do you address her as Miss or Mrs.?

Dear Shirley: Address your friend as Miss. Getting married changes a woman's title to "Mrs.," having a child does not.

Dear Mrs. Post: I plan to handwrite the invitations to my daughter's wedding ceremony. Should I sign just my own name or my husband's and mine?

Dear Mrs. G: Sign both your name and your husband's, and use "We" in the text. "Jane is getting married. . . . . We do hope you will be able to be there. . . . . etc."

Dear Mrs. Post: Since I was unable to find the answer to a matter which concerns me in any of your publications, I am taking the liberty of writing you directly and inquiring about it. When I attend a funeral, wedding or reception of some type, should I sign the register "John Scott" or "Judge John Scott"?

Thank you for your assistance in this matter.

J. SCOTT
DEAR JUDGE SCOTT: You should sign any register of the type you mention as "Judge John Scott." This serves as additional and positive identification for anyone who may be looking at the register later, and helps those who may be addressing acknowledgment or thank-you notes.

Karen L. Norton Weds Donald F. Brott

Announcement was made today to The Freeman of the wedding of Miss Karen Louise Norton of Kingston to Donald Francis Brott of Kingston.

The Rev. Msgr. James Reynolds officiated at the double ring ceremony at Holy Name Church, Kingston. Wayne Cusher, organist, accompanied Rita Horvers, who sang traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of white gladioli decorated the altar and white satin bows marked the family pews.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Norton of 108 Spring Street, Kingston. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Brott of RD 6, Box 393, Kingston.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a gown fashioned with a fitted crepe empire bodice featuring a ring neckline and coat sleeves. The gown was accented with Venice lace and pink satin ribbon trimmed the empire bodice. Her floor length skirt terminated in a detachable train. A headpiece of pink, green and white flowers held her butterfly bouffant of French silk illusion. She carried a sweetheart bouquet of white miniature carnations, white chrysanthemums and pink baby's breath.

Miss JoAnne Murray of 95 Orchard Street, Kingston, was maid of honor for her cousin in a Nile green gown styled with a fitted empire bodice over a chiffon skirt accented with lace. The gown featured a ring neckline and Juliet sleeves. A cluster of matching flowers served as her headpiece and she carried a continental colonial bouquet of mint green pompons, pink daisy pompons and pink sweetheart roses accented with mint green bow.

Attendants were Miss Donna Uhl, cousin of the bride, Raleigh, N.C.; Mrs. Candace Darwak, cousin of the bridegroom; Miss Laura Norton, both of Kingston; and Mrs. Marian Guido of Saugerties. Their pink gowns were fashioned identically to that worn by the honor attendant. They carried continental colonial bouquets of mint green pompons and daisy pompons with pink sweetheart roses and pink bows.

Miss Tracey Uhl, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a pink gown styled identically to the maid of honor's. A wreath of pink and white flowers served as her headpiece and she carried a nosegay of mint green pompons, green daisy pompons and pink sweetheart roses accented with pink and mint green bows.

Joseph Darwak of Kingston served as best man. Ushering were Edward Norton, brother of the bride, Kingston; Donald Cashdollar, New Jersey; John Brice, Tillson; and Peter Guido, Saugerties. Andrew Walters of Long Island, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

A reception for 150 guests was given at Capri '400 Restaurant in Port Ewen.

For her wedding tour of the southern states, the bride selected a lavender pantsuit with navy blue accessories and a corsage of white baby roses.

The bride, a 1969 graduate of Kingston High School, is employed at the New York Telephone Company.

Her husband, a 1967 alumnus of Kingston High School, attended Ulster County Community College, and is employed as an engineering technician for the New York State Department of Transportation.

Mr. and Mrs. Brott will reside in Kingston.

All County High School Chorus Conductor

MARY ENGLISH
(Premo photo)

Miss Mary English, Professor of Music and Coordinator of Vocal Music Education at the State University College at Potsdam, will conduct the All County High School Chorus on Saturday night when the Ulster County Music Educators hold their annual Choral Festival at the Stone Ridge campus of Ulster County Community College.

The program will start at 8 o'clock in the Senate Gymnasium on campus.

Miss English has been the Eastern chairman of the American Choral Directors

Association and the representative-at-large on the Board of Directors for four years. She has been the guest conductor of All State High School Chorus in New York, Maine, Massachusetts and Virginia.

She has served as a choral and voice adjudicator and has been active in the state, divisional and national levels as committee chairman and as clinician in elementary and junior high school music.

Miss English has done workshops in New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Maine and Virginia. On the Potsdam campus, she is the conductor of the Phoenix Club, a women's chorus.

The All County High School Chorus will sing, "Cantate Domino" by Pitoni, "Choose Something Like a Star" by Thompson, "Three Madrigals" by Diemer, "Three Hungarian Folk Songs" by Seiber, and "Jazz Gloria" by Sleeth.

The All County Middle Chorus, composed of seventh, eighth, and ninth grade voices, will be directed by Mrs. Dorathea Waddell. Mrs. Waddell has been president of the New York State Chapter of the American Choral Directors Association and has been a choral adjudicator for the New York State School Music Association for more than 20 years.

She has been the guest conductor of the Huntington Choral Society and minister of music at the Congregational Church. She studied with Robert Shaw, Julius Herford, Dianne Brown, Don Craig, and Warner Lawsen.

The All County Middle Chorus will sing "Salvation is Created" by Tschneff, "Simple Gifts" arranged by Friend, "Satan's Kingdom Fallen Down" arranged by Forsblad, "Kyrie" from the "Mass in G" by Schubert, and "Up with People."

Instrumental accompaniment will be provided by drummer Glenn Palen, double bass, John Ward, and guitars Robert Salzman, Scott Fletcher, Chris Cooper, Mike

Larkin, Kim Troy, and Debbie Jones.

The All County Elementary Chorus under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Hain, vocal music teacher, at the Mt. Marion School in Saugerties district will sing a Thanksgiving Hymn by Thiman, "Dunday," a Hebrew Song, and "Four Sea Shanties" by Sebastian Brown. Piano soloists will be Alvera Terwilliger from Wallkill and Sheely Stokes and Jo Ann Hopper, both from New Paltz.

There will be adequate seating for all. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Want a Job? Then You Should Ask

DEAR ABBY: I own my own business, and I hire many high school students for part-time work. Abby, you cannot imagine how many parents call me and ask if I have a job for Mary or Billy!

If Mary or Billy want to work, THEY should do the asking. Having Mamma or Dad ask for them doesn't say much for their child's initiative.

I feel it is important for young people to work, and I give as many of them a break as I can, but I have made it a policy NEVER to hire anyone whose mother or father calls and asks me to put their child to work. If a boy or girl is old enough to draw a salary, he is old enough to ask for a job.

I am sure other employers share my viewpoint. And if this letter helps to wake up just one teen-ager, it will have been worth the time I took to write it.

EMPLOYER: I'm glad you wrote. I'm sure you woke up more than just one teen-ager. (And a few parents, too.)

DEAR ABBY: Last January my nephew (I'll call him George) married a girl I'll

Big Brown Eggs
3 BROTHERS
HAS THEM!

DEAR AUNT: It is proper under the circumstances that all gifts be returned.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I remarked on the number of letters in your column from couples who were married 20 years or more and have made a mess of their marriages. What is wrong with people anyway?

When a person seeks employment and gets a job he wants, does he sit back and relax just because he got the job? No! He works at it.

That's the way it is with marriage. It has to be worked at. The wife and I will be married 25 years in November. We have three children, one married, one engaged, and the third practically out of the nest, but we have never put our children before each other. That's the first rule.

Let's face it, the biggest job is the wife's. My wife is up, her hair out of curlers, make-up on and dressed in the morning before she wakes me up, and breakfast is on the burner by the time I'm finished shaving. And when I return in the evening, she's not slouched over the TV or a magazine, with hair uncombed, dirty apron and the bit. She's bathed, fresh dress on, make-up intact and she greets me with a smile and a kiss. And no matter how tired I am, I come alive again. She's a jewel, a gem and a queen.

My job is supporting her and the kids and letting her know I appreciate her. I help her when I can. (A few years ago I discovered outdoor cooking, and I'm sorry I didn't discover it years ago. I'm the "cook" which takes a lot of work off her shoulders.)

I'm not saying we don't have our differences. What couple doesn't? But our marriage is working because we both WORK at it. And the job is never finished.

STILL WORKING
DEAR STILL: Your "work" sounds like a pleasure because you've set up ideal working conditions. Bless you and your "queen," and may you celebrate your 50th.

Saturday Concert

The High School Chorus from Medford, Massachusetts, will be singing at Kingston High School with the local high school choir on Saturday.

Members of the Kingston High School Choir are hard at work lining up housing, chaperones and a little local sightseeing for the visiting group. When the Kingston singers travel to Medford, they in turn will stay in the homes of the Medford singers.

Tentative sightseeing plans include a trip to the Roosevelt Mansion at Hyde Park and a possible tour of Kingston's historical uptown area. KHS young people are looking forward to proving that not all history was made in the Boston area.

COLEMAN GARDEN BAZAAR — Merry-go-round rides for the young and young-at-heart will be one of the special attractions at the first annual Garden Bazaar being sponsored by the John A. Coleman Parents Association. The bazaar will be held Friday and Saturday, May 5-6 at the high school, Hurley Avenue Extension. Hours will be 4 to 11 p. m. Friday and noon to 11 p. m. Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hastings, chairmen, have announced there will be refreshments, games and activities for children, teenagers and adults. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keller, chairmen of the children's program, and their committee have planned many games and rides for pre-school through pre-teenage children. The film, 'Monkeys Go Home,' will be shown at regular intervals during the bazaar. Teenage events will be managed by the student organization at Coleman High School with Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Deitz as co-ordinators. Pictured above are Coleman student Mary Mihm, who will operate the merry-go-round, and several neighborhood children. All proceeds will benefit the students at the Coleman school. Many women have told us that this booklet has been most helpful in answering questions that may arise concerning funerals. It is advertised nationally by National Selected Morticians. The booklet discusses funeral customs, what to expect from your funeral director, obtaining benefits to which you may be entitled, funeral costs and payment, acknowledgements and other considerations involved in funeral arrangements. It includes The Code of Good Funeral Practice to which we are uncompromisingly committed.

Because we want you to be informed about funerals, we would like you to have a personal copy. Please write or call us for "What Every Woman Should Know" There is no charge or obligation.

Funeral Booklet

"What Every Woman Should Know" is the title of a booklet containing information on funerals. It is being offered by the Keyser Funeral Service Inc. here.

The booklet was created especially for women by National Selected Morticians, a network of leading funeral directors in more than 800 cities with which Keyser's is affiliated.

What Every Woman Should Know contains information on funeral customs, what to expect from funeral directors, benefits to which one may be entitled, funeral costs and means of payment, acknowledgements and other considerations in funeral arrangements.

The booklet is offered in leading national magazines as a part of a nation-wide information program in which the local firm is participating. It is offered locally through the firm's advertising in this newspaper.

Women throughout this area are invited to call or write the Keyser Funeral Service for a free copy of "What Every Woman Should Know."

Ulster County Events...A Pictorial Review

HEART DRIVE MEETING — Members of the Mid-Hudson Heart Association's Heart Fund Advisory Committee met in Kingston to review the 1972 Heart Fund Drive and make plans for the next fiscal year. Most volunteers topped their totals from the previous year. Participants at the meeting included,

(L) Mrs. Harold Porpa, Columbia County Treasurer of the Heart Fund; Harold Finkle, Ulster County co-chairman for commerce and industry; Franklin S. Kelder, Heart Fund Advisory Committee chairman and Mrs. Lewis A. Jarrett, Columbia County co-chairman. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

PUSS IN BOWL — These are some of the cute, fluffy kittens that are waiting adoption by some area family at the Ulster County S.P.C.A. Shelter on Brabant Road in the Town of Ulster. Officials at the facility extend an open invitation to the public to visit the shelter and select a dog or puppy, or cat or kitten of their choice. All of the animals are homeless at present and any of them would make a good pet. Most of them get along nicely with children. It was chow time when this photo was taken recently. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Town of Olive Republicans Stage Annual Dinner-Dance

TOWN OF OLIVE — More than 200 persons attended the annual installation dinner dance of the Town of Olive Republican Club held recently at Kurtas in Glenford. Club officers installed were: Hayward V. McIntosh, president; John Nadotti, vice president; Antoinette Tennant, secretary and Arthur Henkle, treasurer. Ernest J. Gardner, Ulster County legislator of the 11th district was installing of ficer.

Speakers were Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and Congressman Howard Robison, candidate for election in Ulster's new 27th Congressional District. Frank Carle, former Town of Olive supervisor gave the invocation. General chairmen were Mr. and Mrs. John Nadotti. Committees assisting were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Scanlon, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henkle, Mr. and Mrs. John Molloy, Mr. and Mrs. Hayward McIntosh and Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch. Tickets: Mr. and Mrs. Lee Denman, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Jenkins, Mrs. Douglas Trowbridge, Mrs. Conrad Giuliano and the Misses Jeanette and Gina Giuliano, decorations: Mrs. Lee Roy Crosswell and Mrs. Frank

FRIDAY 5 TO 9, SAT. 9 TO 5 GIGANTIC 12-HOUR "CLEAR-AWAY"

All winter long we kept accumulating hundreds of bargains for a big special "Clear-Away" sale as soon as the weather turned nice. We're jammed to the gills with virtually hundreds of "super" bargains which we want to sell at once. So we're running a really "super" 12 hour sale this Friday 5 to 9 and Saturday 9 to 5. If you need furniture, bedding, floor coverings or anything for your home. NOW is your chance to save more than ever AND STANDARD is the place to make it your most profitable day of the whole year. We guarantee it . . . YOU BE THE JUDGE! It's just a 12 HOUR PRICE CHOPPING DEAL . . . After Saturday, if by some chance there's anything left, (at these crazy prices) we take 'em off the floors and ship it to our warehouse outlet. Altho we have room to list only a few of the SPECTACULAR "BUYS" you can bet your rent money there's a store full of SURPRISES for you. So lets get started. We want to sell a few 4-Pc. BEDROOM SUITES in Modern or Early American styling, and you can HAVE YOURS FOR $100. Of course, they're not the best in the world but well worth much more than a hundred bucks! Are we talking bargains or not? Buy our best selling Sofabed Living Room Suite at $159 and we'll throw in a set of 3 tables and a pair of lamps giving you the whole 7-Pc. ROOMFUL for the same $159. Who needs a new Dinette? We got a really lovely Howell 5-pc. and you can take yours for HALF PRICE. Maybe you can use a NEW RUG but you're not ready to shell out big money. Well, we have a few remnants cut from ends of broadloom at HALF PRICE. Beautiful 9x12 to 12x18 rugs in Nylons and Olefins that sold to $199.95, now yours for HALF PRICE. When we want action, we go through the store and SLASH PRICES up and down, right and left regardless of original prices! If you don't think so, come in and if you don't agree, we'll give you a little GIFT FREE just for coming in. Fair enough? How about famous Spring-Air Innerspring Mattress at $28 (an all-time low price!) Or deluxe luxury QUILTED Spring-Air mattresses at $34.88? Need a couple end tables and a cocktail table that sold for $12.95 each? You can have a set of all 3 for only $19.88. Can you use a 3-pc. corner living room group consisting of twin sofas (sleep 2, sit 6) with a corner table included, all for $78? Need a beautiful LOUNGE CHAIR for your living room? Take your pick of a wide array of values to $179.95 now HALF PRICE! Need a brand new 1972 deluxe 2-door refrigerator . . . or deluxe automatic washer . . . or Family Size Freezer Chest . . . well take your choice at $168 (that's right $168!) Give "Her" a Lane cedar chest now when you can pick up a $79.95 value for $48. If you think it's time to get OUTDOORS for "fun in the sun" we have a big lot of gliders, chairs, chaises, grills, hammocks, patio chairs and tables, rider mowers, etc., etc. at ONE-THIRD OFF! How about Colonial bachelor chests, beds, cabinets at HALF PRICE (if you're an Early American lover) Take your pick of odd night tables that sold to $59.95 for only $19.88. And odd dining room chairs that sold to $54.95 for only $19.88. Want beautiful maple or pine finish dinette tables, chairs, hutches and bases . . . take 'em at HALF PRICE. And STANDARD didn't forget your baby: Play yards, Hi-Boy chests, carriages at ONE-THIRD OFF! How about HALF PRICE for famous make hair dryers, electric knives, coffee makers, irons and other small appliances? (Save 50% on each and every one!) And talking about HALF PRICE items, take your choice of beautiful decorated table lamps that sold to $59.95 all at HALF PRICE! Where but at STANDARD can you get genuine Mersman tables in Modern, Mediterranean or Traditional Styles, each & everyone at HALF PRICE. Need a 12-pc. coffee set? It's yours for $5.55! And as a reward for reading thus far you can have a modern 2-pc. living room suite for $128! Or a 3-pc. decorator curved sectional sofa for $198! Want a sofabed living room suite (that gives you an extra bedroom at night) . . . We have 3-pc. Colonial and 4-pc. Tuxedo styled suites that will go fast at $199. If you got $99 ready for a bargain, you can take your choice of a stereophonic console with 4 speakers . . . or a 3-pc. home bar set (with 2 stools) . . . or a set of 3 chrome and glass modern tables. $99 takes any one of 'em! And now a "biggie" — continuous filament nylon broadloom in gold, bronzetone or avocado at $3.33 a square yard (yes, $3.33!) Need a gossip bench or a cellarette . . . they're yours at $36.88 each. Or a $99.95 swivel rocker or vibrator recliner at $66? Plus dozens and dozens more in bedrooms, living rooms, dining rooms, occasional furniture, each and every one sale priced. There are virtually hundreds of OTHER SURPRISES for you in the store. So come in early. Sorry, no mail or phone orders — and all sales final. All items subject to prior sale. Limited Quantities. And remember: theres no charge for credit at Standard. No 12%-15%-18% heavy interest and carrying charges! For example: Buy merchandise for cash price of $100; or pay $10 down, leaving a deferred payment price of $90; pay only $10 monthly for 9 months. There is absolutely no finance charge and no annual percentage rate. And even at these low prices, we'll deliver it to your home free. But that's not all: buy $59.95 or more and get a five piece $9.95 Wall Mirror Set ABSOLUTELY FREE. That's right, a $9.95 five piece Wall Mirror Set is our GIFT TO YOU because we'd love to have you as a STANDARD CUSTOMER.

Loyalty Day... Many Activities

SAUGERTIES Loyalty Day 1972 will be celebrated in Saugerties May 6 with an all-day list of activities highlighted by a morning outdoor patriotic worship, afternoon parade and evening dance. The event is sponsored for the 19th year by the Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, Veterans of Foreign Wars, its Ladies Auxiliary and the Dads of Foreign Service Vets.

Through the cooperation of the Rev. William Baudendistel, pastor of the Saugerties United Methodist Church and the Rev. Msgr. Charles J. Kaufmann, pastor of St. Mary of the Snow, persons of every faith in the area are invited to attend the 10 a.m. outdoor patriotic worship at flagpole and fountain in Seamon Park, Rte. 9W, in the Village. The brief ceremony will include patriotic hymns, soloists, a short meditation and appropriate scripture reading to set the theme of thanking for the freedoms experienced daily by each American.

In case of inclement weather, the services will be conducted in the sanctuary of St. Mary's Church. The Rev. Richard Darling will share in the ceremonies with Msgr. Kaufmann.

A 2 p.m., seven division parade will form in the Finger St. area, marching through the main streets, ending at Cantine Field for the massing of the colors and playing of the National Anthem by the Saugerties High School Band. Thirty cases of soda and 2,000 hot dogs will then be distributed to the marchers.

Included in the line of march will be the new Miss Ulster County, color guards and marchers from area VFW Posts and American Legion Posts, fire companies, K of C, J.C.'s, senior citizens, church groups, Young Marines, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, village, town and county officials, etc.

Any person or group not previously contacted and wishing to parade may report to the Finger Street area and will be included in the line of march, according to the parade marshal, Max Benson of Pine Grove, Saugerties.

Bands include the Saugerties High School Band; the Sun Downers Drum and Bugle Corps from Margaretville; Troop 12 Indians, Kingston; Troop 36 Green Berets, Saugerties; the Indian Drum and Bugle Corps, Kingston; Continental Cadets, Catskill; and the Muchacho's, Troy.

The day climaxes with a dance, 9 to 11 p.m. in the VFW

Hall, Livingston Street, open to the public, where the winner of a trip for two to Las Vegas or $300 in cash will be awarded. Music by the Hi-Lites, beverage and a buffet are included in the donation.

Members of the Saugerties VFW will be selling the $1 donation for the trip throughout the township, prior to the Loyalty Day festivities, to help defray the expenses.

Co-chairmen are Larry Swingle and Miss Dorothy Wood, who urge the public to display its flags, participate in the scheduled events, to comply with the presidential and congressional resolution passed July 18, 1958 designating Loyalty Day as a special day for reaffirmation of loyalty to the United States of America and for the recognition of the heritage of American freedoms.

TICKET TO VEGAS? — Town of Saugerties Supervisor A. Michael Schovel purchases a fund-raising ticket from Mrs. Mary Wood, founder of the VFW Auxiliary and a member of the Loyalty Day Committee. Winner of a trip for two to Las Vegas or $300 in cash will be announced as the climax of the 19th annual Loyalty Day, May 6, sponsored by Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW, its Ladies Auxiliary, and the Dads of Foreign Service Vets. ### Department of Labor Survey

Mid-Hudson Valley Wage Study Planned

WASHINGTON, D.C. Statistics. The survey will start May 1, and is similar to surveys conducted in seven metropolitan areas in the state of New York as well as 90 areas throughout the nation. Among the other areas studied in New York State are Albany, Binghamton, Buffalo, New York, Rochester, Syracuse, and Utica.

A sample of approximately 100 business organizations, employees, among these are stenographers, secretaries, maintenance craftsmen, material-handling laborers, janitors and truckdrivers, as well as others. To supplement the information on wages, occupational classifications typically found in all types of commercial and industrial establishments with 50 or more employees. Among these are such as work schedule, paid holidays and vacations, and health, insurance, and pension plans.

Bienstock noted that wage survey results which are published separately for each of the 90 areas are used extensively in a variety of ways. Among these are: company wage and salary evaluation and administration; occupational counseling; plant site analysis and by labor and management in contract negotiation.

Preliminary survey results will provide occupational averages and employment and will be available in August. The final publication which contains earnings distributions, mean and median averages and supplementary benefits information should be available in early fall.

KINGSTON, bershops and neighborhood collections. A group of volunteers, including Kingston High School Key Club, has been responsible for the neighborhood collections. That portion of the drive has been headed by Mrs. Ruth Polley.

In most cases, contact has been made with business, industry, professional, government and service organization sectors of the Kingston area community, and replies are being awaited. Anyone who has not been contacted by volunteers may contribute by contacting the Kingston Area Library.

The fund drive was instituted to help narrow the gap between the Kingston Area revenues and expenses in an attempt by library officials to avoid a curtailment of the facility's services.

Planning Outdoor Garden...Four-Stage Process

Now's the time to start painting your thumb green for that outdoor garden.

It's a four-stage process involving, in this order: Planning, stocking up on seeds and proper equipment, preparing the garden site and, finally, planting.

Stage one: Planning. You've been through the nursery and seed catalogues and have ideas about which vegetables and/or flowers will grace your garden. Make a list of these. Then measure the site or sites and use these measurements in drawing up a rough blueprint—linking in the spaces for peas, carrots, marigolds and whatever else is on your gardening inventory. The sites need sun, good drainage. This planning, as well as that involved in stage two, can be done before green-thaws.

If you are a novice green-thumber, write to the U.S. Department of Agriculture for Home and Garden Bulletin No. 9. The price is 30 cents and the address: Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. Until it arrives, for help check your local library which probably has a reference copy of this bulletin.

Seeds and Equipment
Stage two: Seeds and equipment. Veteran gardeners need little advice on these things. The first-timers ought to talk to the man at the seed store about which crops do best in a particular locality. If questions remain, contact the local agent of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. He's the best source of information on what does best in your locale, determined by soil and climate.

Where implements are concerned, clean, sharp, high-grade tools lessen the labor. Veteran gardeners at this stage will want to give tools the once-over, making plans to replace any not fit for use. The first-timers will head for the hardware store, seeking the following: A hoe, a steel rake, a spade or spading fork, a bucket or a watering can, a stout garden hose and, if the budget allows, a wheelbarrow. If the garden is large, too large, that is, to spade or unmotorized way, look into renting a rotary tiller for the cultivating chore before planning.

Stage three: Site preparation. To repeat—the site gets sun and is well drained. Clear the site of debris and rope or fence it (to keep animals and children from romping on same). Before turning soil over make a ball of dirt in your hand. If the ball fails to crumble under slight pressure from your thumb, then the soil still is too wet to spade or plow.

Crop residues or weeds can be plowed under if they are not diseased or too coarse. At this stage you might want to work a two-inch layer of peat moss into the soil. Or a one-inch layer of sand.

Fertilizer Important
Also to be added, proper amount of lime and fertilizer the best of which is well-rotted manure or organic material from the compost heap which (of course) you prepared last fall. Since the ingredients for each locality may differ drastically and since what's added to soil at this point so much determines the sink-or-swim qualities of your garden, it is wise to ring up the county agricultural agent for the specific requirements of soil in your locality. He can tell you if he needs a soil for sample for analysis. Sometimes that is necessary when conditions of acidity vary widely within a given locality.

Stage four: Planting. The soil has been cultivated—turned over. The big lumps have been broken up with a hoe. The soil is further refined by raking. Now, refer to your garden blueprint. Using string, mark off the plot spaces for various crops. Read the directions on seed packets. This will determine whether you make little ditches for seeds, each ditch so many feet long, a row of sorts, or put the seeds in shallow holes, a few at a time.

There also is broadcast seeding—mixing the seeds with some soil and just flinging the resultant mix out low and to the ground, back and forth until you have covered the space for that particular crop. With broadcast sowing, usually you work the seeds into the soil lightly with a rake. On other types of seeding, you cover with soil as directed on the seed packet.

Sunparlor For Seeds
Some veteran gardeners start their seeds indoors in seedbeds or outdoors in coldframes—kind of like a sunparlor in the ground for seeds. These are glass covered and catch the sun's heat, magnifying it, even when the outdoor temperature is low. Many gardeners prefer to buy plants started by a nurseryman's knowing green thumb. Tomatoes are about the most popular "bought" plant. Put them in when the nurseryman suggests.

Some gardeners consider it cheating, but one of the best routes to a foolproof flower garden also involves buying the seedlings—tiny plants, ranging as green as those of the veteran gardener down the street—you want in your flower garden, given enough practice.

— Proper care for most planted vegetable and flower gardens includes surface cultivating or hoeing just often enough to control weeds and keep the soil from becoming caked. Mulching with straw, grass clippings or leaves for vegetables and peat moss, pine bark or wood chips for flowers also helps to control weeds and conserve moisture.

— Watering is best done during daylight hours with a soaking type hose rather than a sprinkler and a good soaking once a week is better than several light sprinklings. One hayseed's rule of thumb on watering: never water when the sun is high—before, after or during the noon hour. Too much chance the combination of water and sun's high heat will burn the plants. Early morning or later afternoon are good watering times.

NoVICES may think gardening sounds complicated. It really isn't. Your thumbs can be just as green as those of the veteran gardener down the street—you want in your flower garden, given enough practice.

Natural Beauty... Quite Refreshing

ALEXANDRIA, VA.

If you are looking for down-to-earth refreshment and a personal encounter with natural beauty, get to know—and plant—the Big Ten in the world of annual flowers this spring and summer.

The nation's favorite annuals—obtainable everywhere in the U.S.—are ageratum, sweet alyssum, geraniums, impatiens, marigolds, pansies, petunias, salvia, snapdragons and zinnias.

Interestingly, these Big Ten flowers—like all other members of the prolific annual family—are the tough and versatile descendants of wild flowers that centuries ago grew freely and in abundance upon the earth.

Which appeals to you most? The rustic beauty of margolds and zinnias, brilliant in the summer sun? The charm of pansies, each face with a piquant character all its own? Bright impatiens, blossoming luxuriantly in full shade?

If you are a beginning gardener, you may choose to plant groups of several species already fully-rooted and growing in "flats," and available at modest cost spring through fall at garden centers, hardware and variety stores. Setting the flowers out in your garden is easy, contact with the earth can bring deep refreshment, and, best of all, the flowers themselves will reward you with non-stop blooms all spring, summer and early fall.

Nation Without Hands

The power of a flower is enhanced if we know its basic characteristics and how to handle it. A prominent horticulturist has lamented that the U.S. is a "nation without hands." In our over-technologized society, relatively few persons know how to disbud a plant, prune a tree or even properly water flowers! Similarly, many persons do not know the difference between an annual and a perennial flower.

What exactly is an annual? Almost all annuals live and die in one growing season—from frost's end in spring until the recurrence of frost late in the fall season. In tropical and semi-tropical regions, annuals can flourish indefinitely, for there is no frost to kill them.

Perennials do not die in one season. Once planted, they thrive year after year, reappearing on their own at their individual time of blossoming.

If most annuals complete their life cycle from seed to seed and require yearly planting, why make the effort? Why not plant the more enduring perennials instead? The answer to this question reveals the strength of Nature's determination that the earth shall be clothed in beauty. Annuals are instant bloomers. They

Blue Spruce Offer

A total of 500 blue spruce seedlings are being given away today and Saturday at the Kingston Garden Center, Route 9W North, in observance of Arbor Day. Orvil E. Norman, owner of the garden center said that the four-year-old seedlings will be given one to a family as long as they last. All interested persons have to do is stop at the center and pick up the seedlings. He stressed the importance of tree planting to the environment and urged residents to take advantage of the Earth Day offer.

provide immediate and long-lasting color. Perennials—although equally exquisite flowers—have an entirely different character. Most bloom for much shorter periods than annuals each year.

Light, Soil and Water
Light requirements for the Big Ten differ. Ageratum, originally a wild plant from Mexico, prefers full sun but will tolerate some light shade. Find just the right place for this particular flower, says Bedding Plants, Inc., and you will be amazed at its beauty. Its abundant clusters of small, fuzzy blossoms are an incredibly rich and pure shade of sky blue.

Favorite annuals that must have full sunlight are marigolds, petunias, salvia, snapdragons, sweet alyssum and zinnias. Impatiens thrives in the shade. Pansies do well in sun or partial shade.

Just before planting, break up your garden soil and mix top layer with a one or two inch layer of peat moss. If soil is heavy clay, use twice the amount of peat and one to two inches of sand. Add a complete fertilizer now—about two pounds of 5-10-5 per one hundred square feet of soil. No additional fertilizer will be needed until at least six weeks after planting. Place plants in pre-dug holes, firm soil and water generously. Thereafter, water plants early in the day for this allows flowers and foliage to dry by day's end, thereby inhibiting plant diseases caused by lingering dampness.

SPECIAL FLOWER—The bright and beautiful marigold is one of the nation's top ten favorite annual flowers. Gardeners who do not have time to sow seeds this year can, nevertheless, enjoy an instant and long-blooming garden by planting mature, fully-rooted marigolds available at garden centers all spring and early summer.

Mets Edge Padres 4-3, Then . . .

Zimmer Realizes a Dream

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"I hope we're not all fired."

That was Don Zimmer's first reaction when he and fellow San Diego coaches Roger Craig and Bob Skinner, out playing golf Wednesday morning, were told that Padres General Manager E. J. "Buzzie" Bavasi wanted to see them.

Their jobs, however, were safe. It was Preston Gomez, the Padres' field manager, who got the axe. And it was Zimmer who got his job.

"I've always wanted to be a major league manager," said Zimmer, who went from the Dodgers' world championship club of 1955 in Brooklyn and 1959 in Los Angeles to become a charter member of the bumbling New York Mets in the course of his 23 seasons in professional ball.

"But I never expected it would happen like this," Zimmer added.

Whether he expected what happened Thursday night, though is debatable. It wasn't very different from what has happened pretty regularly to the Padres since their inception—with Gomez at the helm—back in 1969.

What happened is that they lost 4-3 to the Mets. It was San Diego's sixth setback in seven games while, for the Mets, home runs by Rusty Staub and Jerry Grote paved the way to victory No. 6 in a row.

In the only other games on Thursday's abbreviated National League schedule, Cincinnati slipped past Pittsburgh 5-4, Philadelphia topped San Francisco 7-6 and Montreal outlasted Los Angeles 7-5. The American League was idle.

Cincinnati in general, and Joe Morgan in particular, literally stole its victory against the Pirates.

With the game deadlocked 3-3 in the ninth inning, Morgan led off with a walk and promptly swiped second. So Pittsburgh gave Bobby Tolan an intentional walk—but he and Morgan responded with a double steal.

And after Tony Perez was also purposely passed to load the bases with one out, Ted U-laender, an off-season acquisition from Cleveland, got his first National League hit, a run-scoring single. Denis Menke then hit a sacrifice fly that proved to be the Reds' winning run.

Greg Luzinski's fourth home run of the season and the Phillies' fourth of the game snapped a ninth-inning tie and led to the Giants' downfall.

Don Money had a pair and Deron Johnson added one for Philadelphia while Dave Kingman ripped his fifth of the year for San Francisco.

Ron Hunt and Ken Singleton, with three hits apiece, paced a 16-hit Montreal assault that enabled the Expos to snap a three-game losing spin and stay within a game of the first-place Mets in the East. The Dodgers, despite Steve Garvey's homer, idle Houston and into second slipped half a game back of place in the West.

Big Trouble For Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—"Phoenix," Fox said, "but he The San Francisco Giants are gave up 11 hits and walked nine in trouble and there is no guys. He's never get a shutout foreseeable help in sight."

Thursday's 7-6 loss to the 11 hits. No, we don't have a guy light-hitting Philadelphia Phil in Phoenix who can help us," lies served to illustrate the Fox added the club is still Giants' problems — basically trying to swing a trade but he lack of pitching. has little hope of success.

The 1947 Giants, then based in New York, hit a record 221 and everybody we talk with homers and finished fifth in a wants more than we can afford eight-team league. The 1972 to give up," he said.

Giants won't even come close. Thus, as things stand now, if to hitting 200 homers and with the Giants are to gain any a similar lack of pitching, it's success the present 10-man almost sure they won't be a pitching staff is going to have factor in the National League to produce.

West race, unless there is a sudden turnabout in their gave up 15 hits but the team pitching or they pick up a beat the Phillies on extra base helpful hand or two by trade, hits and five double plays. In John Cumberland, counted on Thursday's loss, Dave Kingman as the club's No. 3 pitcher and Tito Fuentes continued behind Juan Marichal and Sam their hot hitting but it wasn't McDowell, can't seem to go enough.

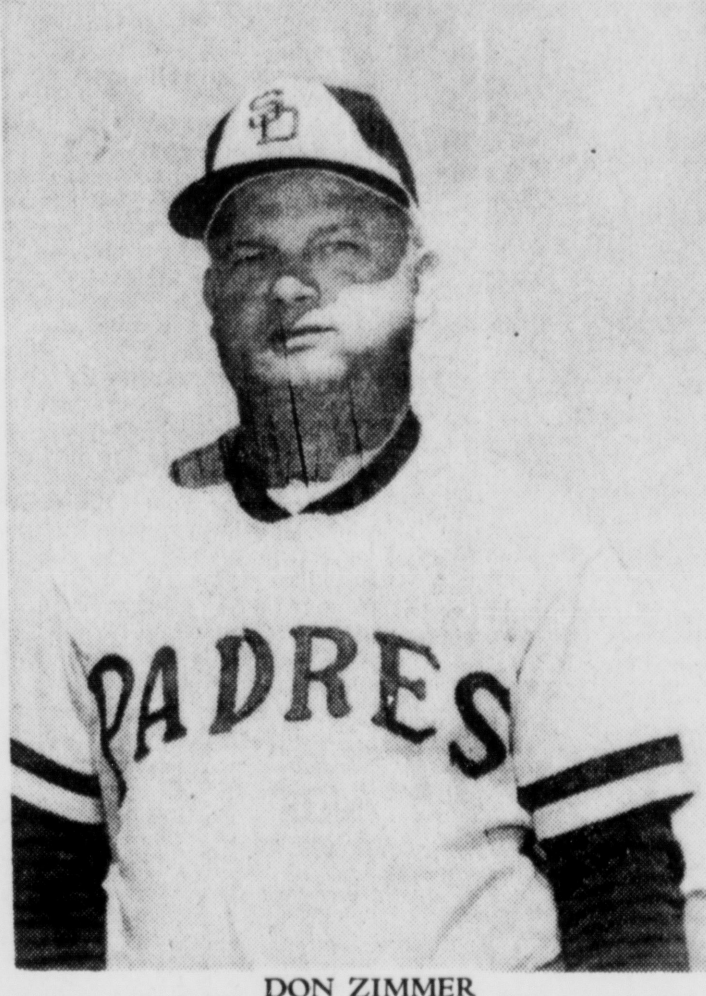

much beyond five innings. Young Kingman drove in Thursday the Giants staked three runs with a single, his him to a 3-1 lead and he fifth homer and an infield out frittred it away by the middle while Fuentes banged out four of the sixth. A three-run homer singles in five at bats. ## Durocher Released

CHICAGO (UPI)—Chicago Cubs manager Leo Durocher was released from Wesley Memorial Hospital Thursday after undergoing a series of tests and will resume command of the ball club Friday.

Dr. Jacob Suter, the Cubs' team physician, said tests performed on the 65-year-old Durocher were negative and that Durocher was feeling good.

He entered the hospital Monday after an examination. Suter reported then that Durocher was tired. He had missed several games since the season began and did not travel to Houston with the Cubs this week. Coach Pete Reiser managed the club while Durocher was out.

Durocher will be in command when the Cubs open a home series with the Cincinnati Reds Friday.

Public Hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's Pay Board will hold a public hearing May 9 on whether to grant professional athletes exemption from pay increase guidelines or enforce the guidelines on the pro players.

The board has made no effort to enforce the 5.5 per cent general limit on annual pay increases to professional athletes.

NYU Ready

New York University's baseball team will play 24 games this spring. The Violets of 1971 had a 12-7 record.

RECEPTION COMMITTEE — Phillies' left fielder Greg Luzinski (19) gets a well deserved pat on the back from Manager Frank Lucchesi (L) and Larry Bowa as he came to Phillies dugout after hitting solo game-winning homer in 9th inning to whip Giants 7-6. Also ready to greet Luzinski are Coach Ray Riplemeier (4), Roger Freed (20) and Ron Stone (21). (UPI)

Ray Zappone Fans 20 for UCCC Record

CROWNING A QUEEN — Olympic Gold Medalist Barbara Ann Cochran (C) receives an assist from her brother, Bob, her sister Marilyn, during luncheon at which she was honored as Skier of Year. Marilyn placed second in the Coronet Trophy competition. (UPI)

He had near perfect control. His fast ball was moving and his slider and curve were working to perfection. He looked real good.

What else could UCCC baseball Coach Al DiBernardo say, after his star pitcher, Ray Zappone, had struck out 20 batters en route to an 18-0 rout of Sullivan County Community here in a Mid-Hudson Conference contest Thursday.

Zappone, who shattered his own school record of 16Ks, lost his bid for a no-hitter when the Sullivan catcher, Tony Scime, hit a clean single up the middle with two outs in the eighth.

After striking out the side in the first and second innings (not successively), Zappone set another UCCC record by whiffing nine straight — the last man in the fifth, the side in the 6th and 7th and two more in the 8th before Scime's single ended the streak and Ray's bid for a no-hitter.

Ironically, Zappone had Scime 0-2 before yielding the single on an outside slider that was out of the strike zone. He walked three and Ulster committed two errors.

While Zappone was mesmerizing Sullivan, the Senators feasted on two pitchers — Frank Wolfe and Rich Chiara — for one of their biggest hit totals ever (21) and their top run production of the season with 18. The Senators scored five runs in the third and fifth innings, four in the second and a trio in the sixth.

Paul Watzka led with three RBIs. Vince Angelastro stroked three singles and knocked in two runs. Mike Romano, Tom Gallo, Rich Gerentine, Ralph Perry and Jim Gulliano each collected two hits. The only extra base blows were doubles

by Zappone, who also singled; Gerentine and Pierrre Ferguson, as Coach DiBernardo had a chance to throw 15 Hudson and hosts Orange CCC in a conference game Saturday Ulster is now 3-2 in the Mid-at Dietz Stadium.

Hawks First Golf Win

PLATTSBURGH record of one win, two losses, and a tie. Their next outing is Monday in the State University New York Athletic Conference (SUNYAC) championships at Genesee State.

Bill Paul fired 81 in the No. 1 singles and Bill Miller (No. 2) was only a stroke behind, as New Paltz State golfers defeated Plattsburgh, 344-348, here Thursday for their first win of the 1972 season.

NCAA rules, with six golfers competing on each side and the lowest four totals counting in the team score. The scores: New Paltz (344) — Bill Paul 81, Bill Miller 82, Dennis Rozzi 81, George Rose 91. Plattsburgh (348) — Chip Ward 83, Mike O'Connor 85, Mark Reilly 88, Carl Lynn 92.

Derek May See Action

BOSTON (UPI)—Boston center Derek Sanderson is itching to play against the New York Rangers Sunday when the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup championship series opens on the Bruins' home ice, but he has doubts about how much action he'll see.

"I'm a little off in my timing," Sanderson said Thursday after skating with the rest of the Bruins for the first time in 12 days. He also said he was still bothered by "a virus of some sort—they don't know exactly what it is," that followed a colitis attack he suffered at the start of the opening playoff series against Toronto.

you don't want to break up a winning combination. "We'll play him," Boston coach Tom Johnson said. "But we'll just have to figure out when and how much. We'll be able to use everybody in this series because it should be a little tougher series than we've had so far. We'll have to spot people more."

Highland, Onteora UCAL Winners

Run-scoring singles by Onteora's Dan Brown and Bob Johnson in the third inning vaulted the host Indians to the come-from-behind win over Ellenville in Thursday's UCAL baseball action.

Rondout bombed three Highland pitchers in an 11-0 Gander rout in the only other contest scheduled, while New Paltz slaughtered non-league foe Rhinebeck 16-4.

The Elies scratched a quick pair off winning pitcher Tom Sebald in the first inning for an early lead. Steve Tenenbaum walked, advanced on an infield out, then scored on Kyle Hoar's single. Hoar came across with the second run after an error and a single by Martinez.

Sebald shut the Elies out from there, and he didn't have long to wait for his mates to settle the score. After opening walks to the first two Indian hitters, Dan Brown cracked a base hit to end the first inning at 2-1.

Wayne Gray put two runs in scoring position. It was all Bob Johnson needed. The OCS shortstop put his lone hit of the contest to good use to drive in Hurley with the tying run.

Another error scored Brown with the clincher. Sebald went the distance in recording Onteora's third win against one loss this season. While Hyler Van Wagenen checked Highland with four hits, the Gander sticks pounded out 12 hits to bury the visiting Big Blue. It was a good 3-0 ballgame until Rondout broke loose for an eight-run fifth inning that put things out of sight.

Ernie Kosloski and Mike Botskas each belted two-run doubles in the barrage. Bob Feasal started and absorbed the defeat for Highland, but even relief from Tom Elting and Neil Affonte was futile as all the Gander starters broke into the hit column.

Van Wagenen was sharp again on the mound, fanning nine without a walk. All four hits off the Gander ace were singles. New Paltz took advantage of Rhinebeck mistakes and added seven hits of their own to produce the fiasco at the Hughes field. Ed Siani, George Clark and Lance Costello shared the with Clark getting credit for the victory.

Rhinebeck scored a run in the second, but the Hugies laid the minor threat to rest with a five-run third of their own. Larry Wooden was charged with the loss.

It's Riva Ridge in Romp

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI)—Riva Ridge's easy victory in the Blue Grass Stakes Thursday warned other Kentucky Derby hopefuls that his championship juvenile campaign was no fluke.

The four length victory in the $49,700 race at Keeneland re-established the Meadow Stable colt, an offspring of First Landing, as the favorite in the May 6 Derby.

The triumph in the Blue Grass, a major Derby prep, may frighten out a couple of marginal Derby entrants, whose owners were not convinced by Riva Ridge's $500,000 winnings last year as a two-year-old.

Jockey Ron Turcotte let Riva Ridge bide his time as long as possible. Sir Woodley and Mr. Charge battled for the lead in the backstretch. The winner grabbed the lead going into the final turn and held off a stretch challenge by Sensitive Music.

Sensitive Music finished second, three lengths in front of Thurlow Square, while Introductory was fourth. Riva Ridge covered the 1.18 mile distance, just one furlong short of the Derby distance, in a rather slow 1:49.3, well off the track record.

"It was a very easy race on the horse," said Turcotte. "There were no problems."

"When that other horse (Riva Ridge) went by me, there was nothing I could do about it," said jockey Carlos Marquez, who rode Sensitive Music.

Riva Ridge, despite a fourth place finish in his last outing in the Everglades at Hialeah, was the overwhelming betting favorite of the crowd and returned $2.60, $2.60 and $2.20.

Sensitive Music paid $13.40 and $8.20, while Thurlow Square was $5.40 to show.

Jockey Dave Whitton on Our Trade Winds, an also ran, was thrown in the first turn and was taken to a Lexington hospital with a concussion. He was listed in satisfactory condition Thursday night.

The $32,305 first place money, the largest in the 48-year history of the Blue Grass, raised Riva Ridge's total earnings to $560,905 in just 16 career starts.

The Blue Grass has produced seven of the last 13 Derby winners. The remaining preps before the Derby are the Stepping Stone and the Derby Trial at Churchill Downs.

ALL BY HIMSELF — Kentucky Derby favorite Riva Ridge is alone to the wire well ahead of a classy field of nine other Derby hopefuls in Keeneland's $40,000 added Blue-grass Stakes at Lexington, Ky. Music was second and Thurlow Square, third. (UPI)

Paterson State Nips Hawks, 3-2

NEW PALTZ flatted at the outcome of the "We committed three errors in the third inning and they scored two runs without the ball out of the infield — that day in the field," he con-

Paterson to a 2-0 lead. New Palatz came back with runs in the fourth and sixth to tie, but an earned run by Paterson decided the game in the eighth. John Hernandez, the Hawks' heavy-hitting receiver, started the comeback with a double. He fly-moved up on an error, then Tom Williams banged him in with a single.

The second New Palatz score came in the sixth when Bob Kozak walked, stole second, took third on an error and came in on Vince Schettini's sacrifice fly.

Sandy Strauss was the pitching victim of circumstances this time for the Hawks who have now gone down six times in eight games. Strauss threw well enough to last the distance, fanning five and walking three.

Paterson's George Kennedy turned in a six-hit, six-strikeout winning performance.

Strauss also gave up six hits, two of them triples to Rich Humphrey and Bob Wilson.

Ben Alberto picked up two of the six Hawk hits, both singles. Humphrey led the Paterson team with a single-triple and Fallon had two singles. Wilson tripled.

UCCC Record on Rare Course

KINGSTON nilate Sullivan in Mid Hudson Conference play.

A record-breaking performance by Ulster County Community College's linksters shot the Senators to their third win of the season at Wiltwyck Thursday. Joe Bostic, Ted Decker, Tom Monticello and Tim Decker fired a red-hot 320 cumulative score, lowest ever in the school's history, to an-courses always play longer in the cool, soggy weather of spring, but at Wiltwyck this time course conditions added a stroke to par. With five holes closed due to wet conditions, the golfers faced a round that went out in 36 and came back in 37.

Nos. 3, 4, 5, 14, and 15 were out of action for the match resulting in the front nine of holes 1, 2, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, and 18, the back nine went: 10, 11, 12, 13, 16, 17, 18, 1, and 2.

Bostic carded 35 to set a good example for his teammates. Ted Decker posted 39. Then they switched scores for their identical totals. Monticello started with 42, then came back with the best nine of the day, even par for his 79. Tim Decker went 41-46.

Raider Thinclads Romp Over Rondout VC, 92-43

STONE RIDGE Red Hook matched a double win by Randy Franklin with a relay sweep and domination in four events to blow Rondout off the track in a UCA meet here Thursday, 92-43.

Franklin paced the triple jump with a 36-8 1/4 leap and clocked 18.3 in the high hurdles to offset the efforts of Rondout's Tom Elston. Elston accounted for half the Gander firsts with dash victories in the 100 and 220.

Mid winner John Germain paced the Raider relay team to a 3:48.4 mile, and the Fish-Skiba-Jordan-Amrod conglomerate did the 880 in 1:43.5 for another East Shore first.

Two-Mile — Phil Hand (RH), Gravano (RH), Kilmor (RH), Time 10:12.

880 Relay — Red Hook (Fish, Skiba, Jordan, Amrod), Time 1:43.5.

Shot Put — Steve Gemmel (RH), Hillier (R), Taylor (RH), Distance 43-8.

Discus — Charlie Groeters (R), Dolacal (RH), Taylor (RH), Distance 113-4.

High Jump — Tom Menig (RH), Karpowich (RH), Jordan (RH), Height 5-3.

Long Jump — Dave Nelson (R), Reid (RH), King (R), Distance 19-6.

Triple Jump — Randy Franklin (RH), Menig (RH), Sparling (R), Distance 38-8 1/4.

Pole Vault — Paul Karpowich (RH), Rose (R), Darge (RH), tie, Thorley (RH), Height 9-6.

The match was originally set for Tarry Brae Wednesday, but ice on the course forced the change to Wiltwyck.

NCAA Expands Tourney to 32

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The national Collegiate Athletic Association Basketball championships will be expanded to 32 teams in 1975, the NCAA announced Wednesday.

Currently, the NCAA includes only 25 teams in its championship. Seven conference champions receive first-round byes.

The 1973 and 1974 tournaments will be played with 25 teams. The NCAA said a two-year waiting period for enlarging its tournament was necessary because of scheduling adjustments by member institutions.

With 25 teams, 16 conference champions automatically gain tournament berths while the tournament committee selects nine at-large entries. The formation of several new conferences, plus an increase in the number of good teams, precipitated the change, according to the NCAA.

Complete Control

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — The New York Rangers announced Thursday they have gained complete control of their Providence affiliate in the American Hockey League and will use the Reds as a development club for young talent in the Rangers' organization.

The Rangers and Reds previously had a working agreement.

Named Assistant

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI) — Washington State University Thursday named Steve Cottrell, 28, an assistant to head basketball coach George Ravelling. Cottrell held a similar position at Old Dominion University in Norfolk, Va.

Jack Nicklaus Begg Off: Injury Is Only Minor

DALLAS (AP) — Jack Nicklaus shrugged off the effects of a minor hand injury today as he began a delayed defense of his title in the $125,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic.

"It's no big deal," Nicklaus said of the injury to the forefinger on his right hand.

There was a slight coloration of the finger, Nicklaus said he sustained the injury when the shaft of his driver shattered after he got off a terrific drive on the 16th hole of the final round last Sunday in the Tournament of Champions.

"I think I may have a little tiny piece of the shaft in there, but it doesn't bother me," said the 32-year-old Nicklaus, the heavy favorite to win his third consecutive title in the Byron Nelson Classic.

"I'm not going to do anything about it," he said. "It'll work out in time."

Maroons Rip Academy, 7-1

Neither rain nor sleet nor dark of night... Or something like that may well be John Hunter's motto this week. The Kingston High tennis coach piled his squad into their cars for the trip to Albany Academy Thursday afternoon, but when they arrived it seems their scheduled opponents had gone through a similar routine and were heading south on the Thruway for Kingston.

A delay of over an hour resulted before the AA team could return, and by that time freezing cross winds had begun to chill the courts.

"It was sure a cold one," explained Hunter, but his complaints didn't carry over into the performance. The Maroons extended their win streak to six with a 7-1 thrashing of their confused foes.

Needing two out of three sets to win, Pete Boyd wasted no time with Tom David prevailing 6-1, 6-1 to give Kingston a quick edge. Phil Bosch chipped in like fashion whipping Brian Plunkett 6-0, 6-4. Boyd and Bosch also won their doubles sets from David and Plunkett 6-0 and 7-5.

Pete Fowler stretched his personal winning streak to six straight with a 6-8, 6-4, 6-4 beating of Albany's Peter Cohen. Bryan Haltermann continued the rout downing Mark Aronowitz, 6-2, 6-4.

The lone upset of the breezy afternoon occurred when Jeff Taylor dropped his match with Dave Perry 6-2, 4-6, 6-3.

Tom Loneragan got back on the winning track taking Craig Hatkoff in straight sets 6-1, 6-3, then teamed with Haltermann to whip Aronowitz and Hatkoff in the final doubles 6-2, 6-2.

In Kingston returns to DCSL action Monday with a visit to cellar-dwelling Ketcham.

Sickle Cell Program Is Operating

Dr. William Taylor, M.D., Ulster County Commissioner of Health, announces a Sickle Cell Anemia Testing Program for black residents of Ulster County.

Sickle Cell Anemia is an inherited disease which can be passed from parent to child. Research shows that one out of every twelve black Americans has the Sickle Cell trait. If two persons with the trait marry, there is a one in four chance that their child will develop Sickle Cell Anemia.

A simple, painless blood test will show if you carry the Sickle Cell trait.

The testing program has been running since April 15 and will continue through May 12—Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 to 10 a.m. and 4 to 5 p.m. at Ellenville Public Health Nursing Office, 102 Canal Street, Ellenville, and Kingston, fifth floor of the County Office Building, Health Department Office.

Kingston Man Changes Plea

Anthony Albano, 43, of 36 Lipton Street, Kingston, arrested last August in a gambling raid and charged with possession of gambling records and promotion of gambling, changed his previous plea of innocent in County Court Wednesday to guilty to possession of gambling records in the first degree.

A Class E felony, Albano faces up to four years in prison.

Presiding Judge Raymond J. Mino adjourned the case until June 14 at 11 a.m. and bail was continued.

Charles Joseph Mason, 21, of New York City, pleaded guilty to criminal possession of stolen property. His case was adjourned until May 24 for sentencing.

Diana Pima Baker, 21, of New Rochelle, charged with selling a dangerous drug, second barrel, to an undercover agent, pleaded guilty to selling of a dangerous drug in the fourth degree and is eligible for up to seven years in prison.

Judge Mino set May 24 for sentencing.

James L. Melbert represented The People.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
WATER DISTRICT EXTENSION

TO THE TOWN OF ESOPUS, INCREASE OF FACILITIES.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Town Board of Esopus, Ulster County, New York, will meet in the Town Hall, Route 9W, in the Town of Esopus on the 11th day of May, 1972, at 7:30 o'clock p.m. for the purpose of conducting a public hearing in connection with the installation of approximately 1200 feet of 12" main in Route 9W, and certain additions and enlargements to the existing water treatment plant which will service both the existing parent district and the proposed extension thereof.

WHEREAS, the construction and installation of said improvements have been completed and are now in operation, and

WHEREAS, there have been requests to this Town Board from the owners of property in the area south of the said water district and along the east side of Route 9W to both the increase of facilities of the parent district and the extension of the existing district to encompass the area as hereinafter described;

WHEREAS, an in-depth engineering study and report has been prepared and submitted to the Board of Esopus Water Commissioners and to this Town Board for its study and consideration, and

WHEREAS, the matter has been examined into in great detail and the subject extension has now been recommended and approved as to purpose by the said Board of Water Commissioners, and

WHEREAS, the Town Engineer has prepared the necessary map, preliminary plan and cost estimate of the proposed extension, and the same have been heretofore filed with the Town Clerk of the Town of Esopus, and a copy thereof having been filed with the Board of Water Commissioners, and

WHEREAS, the mode of constructing the facilities proposed which include the installation of mains, a storage tank, hydrants and valves and related apparatus, all of which is incorporated herein by reference and made a part hereof, and

WHEREAS, the boundaries of the proposed extension to be known and created as the "TOWN OF ESOPUS DISTRICT" are as set forth in Schedule A, attached hereto and made a part hereof, and

WHEREAS, the maximum amount proposed to be expended for the construction of the improvements to be installed in the said extension shall not exceed the sum of $275,000, and

WHEREAS, the proposed mode of financing the said improvements consist of the issuance of serial bonds of the Town of Esopus to mature in annual installments over a period not exceeding 40 years payable from a levy upon the original and improved lands within the said extension in the same manner and at the same time as other Town charges and taxes;

WHEREAS, simultaneously with the commencement of this proceeding, a proceeding pursuant to Section 262 of the Town Law will be commenced to authorize the expenditure of an amount not to exceed $125,000 to cover both the cost of construction of certain increased facilities within the said Port of Esopus Water District and the cost of the improvements within the subject extension, and

WHEREAS, the question of the proposed extension required by the said district, both the proposed extension and the improvements within the subject extension, is a single project as set forth in the above referred to engineering plan and report, and

ORDERED, that a meeting of the Town Board of the Town of Esopus be held at the Town Hall, Route 9W, in the Town of Esopus on the 11th day of May, 1972, at 8:00 o'clock p.m. to consider the subject matter hereof and to hear all persons interested concerning the same and for such other action on the part of the Town Board as may be required by law, and it is

ORDER FOR SERVICE OF SUMMONS BY PUBLICATION
Upon reading and filing the Summons and Complaint in this action, the said Complaint showing the cause of action specified in Subdivision 1 of the Civil Practice Law and Rules, in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant, and the fact that the defendant cannot be served by other method of service, with due diligence, and mailing having been dispensed with.

NOW on motion of ROBERT L. RICKEN, attorney for the plaintiff, it is ORDERED, that the service of the Summons in the above-entitled action upon the said TIMOTHY BOND MERRILL JR. be made by publication thereof, in accordance with Rule 316 of the Civil Practice Law and Rules, in one newspaper in the English language, viz: IN THE DAILY FREEMAN, published in the City of Kingston, County of New York, hereby designated as being most likely to give notice to said defendant, once a week for three successive weeks.

With a notice to the defendant, and a brief statement of the object of the action, and it is further

ORDERED, that the Summons, Complaint, Order and papers upon the motion, be filed on or before the first day of publication, and that first publication be within twenty (20) days after the date of this Order; and it is further ORDERED, that Subdivision B of Rule 316 of the Civil Practice Law and Rules be dispensed with since it has been shown to my satisfaction that the whereabouts of the defendant have not been ascertained by the plaintiff in spite of the diligent efforts made by the plaintiff to locate the defendant, and that the mailing of a copy of the Summons prior to the first day of publication would be fruitless, and of no force and effect.

Your Horoscope

Saturday, April 29

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when you have a good chance to find out the specific manner in which to handle duties satisfactorily. Make notes in your head as well as on paper, on best ways to accomplish a particular course of action, and then go ahead with it. Good also for personally tidying up your surroundings.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Know what your true responsibilities are, and then do your best to discharge them sensibly. Don't neglect important governmental matters, or you get into trouble later on. Make your home more attractive, comfortable.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Come to a better understanding with a partner with whom you have disagreed badly of late. Get at the root of the matter that is bothering him. Many situations arise that show you what your position is with the public in general.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you tackle that work before you now with vim and vigor, you find you accomplish a great deal today and tonight. Plan a little time for improving your health. Stop letting others get the best of you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take care of details now for any recreation pleasures you have planned and they will work out much better. Show emotional attachment and great devotion and gain the backing you need for pet projects. Don't be garrulous.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan your routines at home much better so you have more leisure time and do not get so tired. Some small gift for close tie who is not feeling up to par is wise. Do not permit some tooth trouble to go unattended.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get out early for that shopping and visiting that will put you in touch with interesting people.

Secure the data you need, also. Some letter you receive can open new doors of opportunity for you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have many practical details to take care of today that will help get all of your material affairs in better order. Pay bills and don't forget to collect what is rightfully coming to you. Avoid arguments, though.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have many personal duties to handle, and this is the right day for that. Then out to a social affair, and make the new acquaintance who can help you reach your aims faster. Drive expertly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can get needed information tactfully from those who have it. Put it to work and your plans can succeed. Anything of a confidential nature should be kept secret. Take it easy tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can count on a good friend for the advice you need to gain goals more quickly and easily. Attend that social event that is important, which will help you meet the right people. Make your life more worthwhile.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Analyze your work duties well to see whether you are using right methods and getting right results, otherwise reorganize them now. Handle that civic work well that can be most helpful in your business life, also. Think.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You are able now to get added data concerning that new project you want to become a part of your life, and can study the details well. A new contact's ideas are quite good, but not all of them. Separate the wheat from the chaff.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people with the peculiar charm of his or her own, plus a great amount of dynamic vitality. Will

Quick Quiz

Q — In what year were there no Winter Olympic Games?
A — The Winter Games began in 1924. There were no games in 1940 and 1944 because of World War II.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Daniel Boone was an American pioneer who blazed the Wilderness Road through the Cumberland Gap of the Appalachian Mountains over which he led settlers into Kentucky. The World Almanac recalls. Ironically, Boone lost title to most of his best land through ejection suits despite his previous service to Kentucky.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

ANGRY LETTER: (Q.) My mother and daddy got a divorce. His "girl friend" has been married three or four times. I'm really built up inside about it, so I have written her a letter to let her know how much I've enjoyed her little tricks.

What I want to know is should I send it. Here is a copy of it:

"Mrs. X:
"I don't see how, in the name of God, my daddy fell for a person like you. You really deserve him. After all the trouble you went through getting him. You knew good and well he was married and had two kids. . . . You just don't know what you've put my mother, my brother and me through . . ."

Should I send it?—Father Lost in Maryland.

(A.) I understand your deep feelings, and certainly wish I could do something magic to make you feel better.

I don't believe that sending the letter (which I have shortened considerably here) would make you feel better. However, just writing it may have been what you needed to do.

I don't believe receiving it would help your father's friend. Please pray that not only you but all the others concerned will find a happier future. I pray you will and I also believe you will, if you will work toward it rather than wasting your time in anger about what is already history.

HEAVY FRIEND: (Q.) We had a school dance. The girls asked the boys. This girl asked me. She was overweight and my friends teased me. It didn't bother me, but it hurt her feelings.

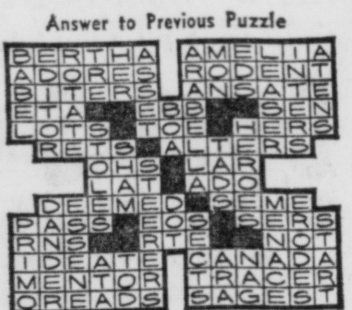

Another dance is coming up. I would sort of like to ask her, but am afraid they would hurt her feelings again. Should I?—Interested in New York.

(A.) If you like her, ask her. Do not be intimidated by what your friends say. If she says yes you will know she is not intimidated. When your friends see you are not going to let them stop you from going with a girl you like they will stop trying to.

Good Woman's Documentary

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Medical and health problems faced by American women were detailed in a tasteful, informative and gently poignant one-hour documentary on ABC-TV Thursday night.

The brilliant actress Patricia Neal, a former stroke victim whose courageous comeback won worldwide admiration, was the hostess and narrator of the broadcast, "Life, Death and the American Woman."

And her final comments about the preciousness of life had a special heartfelt quality that was deeply touching.

The thrust of the hour, created by Laurence D. Savadove and Alan Landsburg, and developed in cooperation with the National Institutes of Health, was described simply by the network in an earlier outline:

"Medical facts demonstrate that the American woman is more susceptible to certain health hazards than most women elsewhere in the world, yet she stands a greater chance of survival through early detection of their symptoms than do her counterparts."

Adhering to this summary, the hour put considerable emphasis on the point of helping early detection by examinations, driving home the message that women should not delay getting medical advice and treatment for their health problems because of fear or by putting things off for other reasons.

A number of women with various medical problems, some serious, some less so, were presented on the broadcast as the hour looked at such hazards as cancer and sickle cell anemia, as well as such matters as menopause and pregnancy.

And if there was one thing these women shared, it was courage—the kind of courage is exhibited by people in the real world every day even though it is, at times, taken too much for granted.

The families and friends of those who consented to tell their stories in the hour broadcast must be very proud of them, and very proud also of the way these women registered as human beings on the home screen. Viewers must have felt the same kind of admiration.

New McGovern Endorsements In Dem Presidential Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Edmund S. Muskie retired from active campaigning, George McGovern has picked up more endorsements for the Democratic presidential race that appears to have narrowed to a battle with Hubert H. Humphrey.

After Muskie quit the primaries race Thursday, Sen. Fred Harris, himself a former candidate for the nomination, cast his lot with McGovern. Harris previously had been uncommitted.

Cliff Larson, Democratic chairman in Iowa and a backer of Muskie, announced he was switching support to McGovern but retaining the right to return to Muskie, depending on what happens at the Miami Beach convention.

And sources in the McGovern camp said Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who has stayed out of the battle, would endorse McGovern today. It was Ribicoff who nominated McGovern at the 1968 Chicago convention.

McGovern, meanwhile, said he plans to actively seek the support of organized labor and of the Democratic party leadership, despite the urging of some of his backers.

He told The Washington Post in an interview: "I think I've got the skill and the common sense to quiet the fears of those people and bring them on board at some point . . .

"As we move along and time permits, I'll be calling on the party leaders in many states," McGovern said. "I think that's the best way I can answer their anxiety about whether I want to work with them."

Muskie and Humphrey have been sharing organized labor's support. Muskie has had a number of endorsements from state Democratic organizations.

Before Muskie withdrew from the primaries Thursday, it appeared he, Humphrey, and McGovern would go to Miami Beach with delegates hopelessly split three ways.

Now, it probably will become a two-way split. But matters will be complicated by George C. Wallace, who will make it a three-way race in some states and take a sizable minority bloc of votes to the convention.

Since Muskie didn't quit as a candidate, only as a campaigner in the primaries, he holds onto the delegates he has won and may even add some since his name stays on the primary ballot. But he told his supporters they are free to look elsewhere.

One result could be that Muskie becomes another kind of front-runner — leader among those on the outside looking in, and hoping for lightning to strike.

If McGovern and Humphrey deadlock the convention, Muskie, sitting on the sidelines with a core of votes, could be the beneficiary when weary delegates begin to look around for a second choice.

This option changes the picture in which Sen. Edward M. Kennedy had been cast as the reluctant dark horse of a convention tied up three ways between Muskie, McGovern and Humphrey. He now has been joined on the sidelines by an unreluctant Muskie.

McGovern made no quick claims of good fortune over Muskie's decision except to say "I can't mourn when one of the competitors steps to the sidelines." He has been battling uphill all along anyway.

But Humphrey predicted he would be the beneficiary.

"It is my judgment that both Sen. Muskie and I have shared what I have termed—and I think rightly so—a progressive, vital center of the Democratic party," Humphrey said.

"As to his withdrawal as an active candidate—I would think it would be a great help to me," Humphrey analyzed. "We were both on the ticket in 1968, and shared the same views, we shared the same responsibilities."

"I have a feeling that those who were for Sen. Muskie as an active candidate in the primary will find it very comfortable to be supporting my candidacy," Humphrey said.

A top Democratic official commented that despite Humphrey's strength in the up coming Ohio and Michigan primaries, McGovern still has "got in his back pocket a strong position in California."

And he said the winner in California will be in a strong position going into the convention.

Another Democrat close to the race predicted that McGovern could go into the convention with more than 1,000 delegate votes if he wins California and a large chunk of New York. It takes 1,509 to be nominated.

South Viet Forces Pinned Near Quang Tri

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese forces led by tanks and supported by heavy artillery today forced South Vietnamese troops into a tight defensive circle around Quang Tri in South Vietnam's northernmost province.

The North Vietnamese shot down an American helicopter outside Quang Tri, killing two U.S. crewmen.

The renewed Communist drive below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) pushed government troops back five miles from the makeshift northern defense line at the Cua Viet River and threatened to overrun the city of Quang Tri itself.

UPI Correspondent Stewart Kellerman reporting from the surrounded city by radio telephone said the North Vietnamese drive was methodical but that the Communists had not yet attacked the city.

The South Vietnamese were forced out of Dong Ha on the south bank of Cua Viet River and the adjacent combat base. The troops pulled back five miles toward Quang Tri.

"It is serious but we can handle it," said the South Vietnamese commander for the upper five provinces, Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan Lam. "I think we can hold."

Lam conferred at his Da Nang headquarters with Gen. William B. Rosson, U.S. Army commander in the Pacific. The subject of their discussions was not reported.

As they conferred, two U.S. Army helicopter units were sent to Quang Tri to search for 25 tanks spotted early today east of the city. The choppers blew up two tanks with rockets and grenades. Antiaircraft fire downed one of the helicopters, killing both American crewmen. Lam said at least 13 other tanks were knocked out west and southwest of Quang Tri but there was no confirmation of the report.

Heavy fighting was reported at artillery bases Pedro, five miles west of Quang Tri and Nancy, eight miles to the south. South Vietnamese spokesmen in Saigon said 317 Communist troops were killed in fighting Thursday in Quang Tri province at a cost of 13 South Vietnamese troops killed and 73 wounded.

Communist troops south of Quang Tri early today pulled back slightly, opening Highway 1 and allowing an estimated 10,000 civilians to leave Quang Tri.

Antiwar Demonstrations Continue on Low Key

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Low-key antiwar demonstrations continued on a few of the nation's college campuses today but antistrike students struck back at the protesters at Columbia University.

Protests over police drug raids brought a second night of sporadic violence to 9,000-student Marshall University in Huntington, W. Va. Police used tear and pepper gas to disperse 200 rock-throwing students.

The University of Pennsylvania obtained a court injunction ordering 400 antiwar protesters to take down their barricades in the main administration building they seized Wednesday night.

Service of the injunction was withheld until this morning at the request of lawyers for the demonstrators. The group had vowed to remain until the university abolished ROTC.

School officials rejected that demand. They said stock in four defense contractors that the protesters demanded be sold had been sold during the past three months.

A third day of antiwar protests at Kent State University in Ohio ended with a march to the central business district by 800 demonstrators who then sat down in the streets for an hour.

When police arrived in riot gear the crowd broke up and without incident and drifted back to campus. There were no arrests.
